VOL. XIX. ATLANTA, GEORGIA, SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 15, 1887. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

THROUGH TO MEMPHIS.

On Their Way to the Piedmont Exposition.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. CLEVELAND

Welcomed by the Tennesseans—A Ride Down the River—The Crowds in the Streets—Incidents of the Trip.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., October 14.—The president's special train, preceded by a pilot train, passed here at ten minutes past five this morning. The passengers were all asleep. A crowd of two or three hundred persons were at the station to see the train. The engines and conductors changed here, but the transfer was made just outside of town, and the train passed the station without stopping. The train men report that people were up and waiting for the train at all the way stations during the night.

THE RIDE THROUGH ARKANSAS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., October 14.—The journey of the president from Kansas City has been devoid of striking incident and afforded much needed rest. Members of the party have preserved good health, and all rose this morning in excellent spirits. The floral trophies of this forenoon's ride are one little bunch of golden rod pinned in a piece of pink paper inscribed "For the President and his Wife." It was handed to the president by a tow-headed miss of thirteen at a water tank stopping place.

At a half dozen points this morning there have been gatherings of from one to three hundred people, whose tumultuous greetings have been most courteously acknowledged by the president and Mrs. Cleveland. At one point a company of Lancers was drawn up in line with arms at "present," and at another, where the locomotive was coaled, the natives had an opportunity to shake the president's hand.

The line from Poxie to West Memphis lay in a typical Arkansas region. There were half a dozen little frontier villages, but for the most part groves of blasted forest, giants of living oaks, gums and cypress bounded the view. Interspersed were openings for in the latter of which picking operations were going on, and there were casual sawmills and lumber yards. The prevalent dwellings were of logs and boards, in front of which blonde youngsters were drawn up in line for review, and around which, in default of flags and banners, hung the family wash. Hogs of shadowy proportions, armed with incredible snouts, glided between the trees, and wild turkeys were sometimes scared up. Seventy-five miles of the region is subjected to overflow by the Mississippi.

The first sign of the approach to Memphis was the appearance on the train—no one knew how they got there—of handsome lithographs of the president and Mrs. Cleveland, the allegorical bordering of which contained figures in the costumes of ancient Egyptian Memphis, with representations of the industries of its modern namesake.

Later bouquets of flowers, surrounded by snowy cotton bolls, made their appearance on Mrs. Cleveland's table.

The president is here, the guest of the city of Memphis, and the largest throng of civilians ever gathered within the city limits is here to welcome him to the south. Delegations of half a dozen gentlemen boarded his train as it came to a stop at West Memphis, at 8 o'clock, and informally conveyed to the excursionists the greetings of several committees formed to do the honors of the city, and invited them on board the steamer Kate Adams, which laid moored close at hand. Upon the steamer they were welcomed by about two hundred of the leading citizens, members of the executive, reception and entertainment committees. The boat was bedecked with flags, and its spacious cabin was a bower of roses.

The Chickasaw Guards and Memphis Merchant Zouaves, with a fine brass band, were upon the boat for escort duty. The Adams cast off her line, and to the music of an artillery salute, fired from the levee on the east side, steamed up past the city, the band playing and the people along the shore cheering and waving their hats and handkerchiefs. The vessel went about three miles up stream, to give the president an opportunity to see the works of river improvement there is in progress, and, turning, came back to the customhouse, where, after a little delay, the distinguished guests were landed. Up to this time the utmost order prevailed among the 30,000 people on the levee; but when the president and Mrs. Cleveland had been seated in their carriage the throngs in their enthusiasm broke over all bounds, carrying away the colored militia guard stationed to keep the way open. Indeed, some of the guards seemed to have joined the irregular masses themselves, and followed on behind the presidential carriage. The progress to the hotel was by no means the orderly proceeding it was designed to be, a miscellaneous procession of trucks, market wagons and ten thousand negroes mixing itself up with the carriages of the committees and guests; but there was ample room, and aside from delay there was no harm done.

The presidential party was assigned comfortable quarters in the historic Gayoso house, the parlors of President and Mrs. Cleveland being richly and tastefully trimmed with flowers and evergreens. The guests remained quietly in their rooms till 6 o'clock, when they were summoned to dinner in their private dining room.

At 8 o'clock a committee of nearly 200 ladies and gentlemen, in evening dress, assembled in the corridors of the hotel to escort the president and his party in carriages to see the fireworks. Here again a great deal of confusion ensued, the President and Mrs. Cleveland being well cared for, but the remaining members of the party being, to some extent, left to shift for themselves. The fireworks made a creditable display. They were exhibited from three barges in the river and were witnessed by the presidential party, or a part of it, from a stand in front of the customhouse. Returning to the hotel the President and Mrs. Cleveland at 9 o'clock this evening held a reception which was attended by two or three thousand ladies and gentlemen invited by the committee of arrangements.

Memphis boasts of the beauty of her ladies and no stranger who witnessed the array this evening remained unconvinced of the justice of her claims.

The city is handsomely decorated in bunting and flags, and several mammoth arches span her chief thoroughfares. One of the most striking of these is made almost entirely of bolls of cotton.

At eleven o'clock tonight the Jacksonian democratic club serenaded the president and Mrs. Cleveland.

Killed on the Track.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., October 14.—[Special.] Conductor John Graham, one of the oldest conductors on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, was instantly killed at Huntsville, Ala., this morning, by being caught between the bumpers while in the act of coupling cars. His body was terribly crushed. The remains were taken to Tuscumbia for interment.

The Pills Didn't Save Him.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., October 14.—[Special.] Thomas H. Ewing, son of Colonel Joseph Ewing, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and a son-in-law of Dr. Tutt, the patent medicine man, of New York city, died in this city this afternoon of typhoid fever, after a lingering illness. He leaves a wife, but no children.

Put In Jail.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., October 14.—[Special.]—A negro named Ed Alexander was captured and jailed here today, for the shooting of another negro named Ben Bird, about three weeks ago, near Leeds.

An Estimate of the Crop.

NEW YORK, October 14.—Latham, Alexander & Co.'s "Cotton Movement and Fluctuations" for the past year, which has just been published, estimates that the crop of the United States for 1887-88 will amount to 6,650,000 bales as against 6,505,000 bales for 1886-87.

YELLOW JACK.

A Rigid Quarantine Against Tampa—Two More Deaths.

PALATKA, Fla., October 14.—The case of yellow fever reported yesterday did not originate here. The man who died was a refugee from Tampa. The house where he died was promptly quarantined and the bedding and effects of patient burned. There are no reasons to fear that the disease will spread. The health of the city is good.

WASHINGTON, October 14.—The Marine hospital bureau is informed by Deputy Collector Spencer at Tampa, Fla., that two deaths and three new cases have occurred since the last report. He says he failed to get a house for a hospital. There is no concert of action between the board of health, town council and citizens committee. There is no head to the system to put down the epidemic. The citizens are disappointed at her Guiteras not coming.

Surgeon General Hamilton answered this telegram as follows:

"Dr. Porter is amply able to make a diagnosis. When your citizens agree as to what you want, the bureau is ready to help, so far as reasonable needs are concerned."

A telegram was received from the president of the board of health at Jacksonville, Fla., saying that a six day's refugee from Tampa died at Palatka from yellow fever yesterday morning. Another from Dr. Wily at Sanford, Fla., says that a rigid quarantine is maintained against Tampa, and that they have nothing to fear at Sanford. Health Officer Strausse, of Palatka, telegraphed as follows:

"At a special meeting of the board of health held today Health Officer Strausse made the following special report of the sporadic case of yellow fever:

"A refugee six days from Tampa died here this morning of yellow fever. The premises under strict quarantine. Everything in the room and belonging to him burned. Nothing to fear from a spread of the disease."

A telegram was received at Marine Hospital bureau this afternoon from Dr. Joseph Y. Porter, president of the Key West board of health, announcing his arrival at Tampa last evening and saying:

"Have seen indiscriminately. The disease is undoubtedly yellow fever, presenting the characteristic tests of albumen, irritable stomach and black vomit."

A telegram was also received from Deputy Collector Spencer saying:

"Three deaths last night. Several new cases. Raining. Dr. Porter here and pronounces it yellow fever. Town authorities acting and taking measures to disinfect."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., October 14.—A Palatka special just received says there is no cause for alarm. There has been one death and there are no more cases. It is not believed that the disease will spread in that city. The death was that of a Tampa refugee. There is no statement as to the disease. There is no danger of fever propagating there. There is no cause for fear here.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., October 14.—Dr. Joseph Y. Porter, of Key West, arrived in Tampa today and sent the following dispatch to the Times-Union:

"The fever here is undoubtedly yellow fever. There is not lacking a single symptom in marked cases to admit of doubt. Of course there are some light cases. Drs. Wall, Jackson and Weedon are in unison on the subject. The citizens generally realize the fact and will organize and equip a hospital tomorrow. Owing to there being no system of reports to the mayor or board of health, it is impossible, to ascertain actually the number of cases—Dr. Weldon tells me in the neighborhood of one hundred, and Dr. Wall says fifty. There have been twelve deaths to date, four in past twenty-four hours; Mrs. Warner is in a dying condition, and Charles Wilson lies in an extremely critical state, as is also Mrs. Copeland.

JOSEPH Y. PORTER, M. D.,
President of Monroe county Board of Health."

A dispatch from another correspondent says it has been raining for twenty hours. An east wind is blowing and the situation is less encouraging. So far five physicians have treated eighty cases during the epidemic.

In Palatka the excitement is abating owing to the prompt measures adopted to prevent the spread of the disease and to stamp out the infection. Mayor Teasdale telegraphs tonight:

"I assure you most positively we have no other cases of yellow fever in this city."

A rigid quarantine has been established in every direction and cordon with mounted patrols has been drawn around Hillsboro county. Governor Perry has asked aid from Washington.

THE WEEK'S TRADE.

Review of Business—Prices Remain About the Same—Failures.

NEW YORK, October 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of trade for the week says:

In spite of the many favorable conditions noted last week prices do not advance. The treasury added thirty-three million to the circulation in September, and has added about $4,000,000 since, and the Baltimore and Ohio bargain has been ratified and Reading re-organization ensured. Yet the prices of stocks fell on Wednesday to an average of $58.77 per share, the lowest since April and May, 1886, and excepting a few weeks then the lowest for two years. Wheat has lost every advance since September 26th. Corn for a fortnight past, and oats for a month past have occasionally risen only to recede again. Cotton has declined 3/16c during the month, and pork one dollar per barrel. Oil is higher, but transactions are insignificant. Coal is stronger because of the strike, but iron and steel are lower. Elaborate statements of exchanges for the past year and a quarter only conceal the fact that of late exchanges have been falling behind those of last year; first at New York, and then at other chief cities and New England manufacturing towns.

In short, the theory that "more money" insures prosperity comes to grief again. More than $107,000,000 have been added to the circulation within the past fourteen months, but speculation thus stimulated, has wrought much harm already, and clouded the future with doubt. While great activity and expansion are witnessed in some branches of business, others exhibit symptoms of reaction. Steel rails are again lower. Sales were made last week for $34 spring delivery and some makers are urging a general stoppage of works. Pig iron, No. 1 foundry, continues scarce, because of the Lehigh coal strike, but lower quotations came for grey forge and also for bar iron.

Encouraging statements of exports in September show that of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions, oil and cattle value was 9 per cent greater than in 1886. A large decrease appears in wheat, but a noteworthy increase in flour; of cattle and pork exports decrease one-half, and there is some loss in butter, cheese and oil, but a gain of $5,640,000 in exports of cotton. This month exports from New York show a gain of 2½ per cent, against an increase of 10 per cent in imports.

Interior reports are uniformly more favorable, though tight money and slow collections are still reported from some points. The pressure is, in most cases, less severe, and collections rather better. In Texas, where the cotton yield is said to be ten per cent below last year's, failures are more numerous, and many traders are asking indulgence. But east of the Mississippi river money is generally easier at the south, and the partial failure of crops is as yet hardly recognized as the cause of the disturbance in the northwest. If the actual losses of farmers are as large as the October bureau reports would indicate. However, some shrinkage in the volume of business must result.

Business failures occurring throughout the country in last week number for the United States 182, Canada 20; total 202 against 212 last year.

HE WINGED ONE OF THEM.

Three Masked Men Attempt to Rob a Train—One of Them Killed.

EL PASO, Texas, October 14.—The Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio mail and express which left here this evening, was stopped four miles out of the city by three masked men. While two covered the engineer and fireman with their revolvers, the third ran back to the mail car and threw a bomb against the door. The explosion which followed shattered the door and side of the car into splinters. The agent was dazed and badly frightened by the shock, but uninjured. He recovered himself, however, to pour a charge of a double-barreled shotgun into the breast of the robber, who had jumped into the car, killing him instantly. The two on the engine, hearing the report, fled. The mail agent fired the remaining load after them. The train then returned to El Paso and remained until morning.

GALVESTON, Tex., October 14.—A special to the news from Willis, Texas, says: Passengers on the north bound International and Great Northern train, due here at 7 o'clock, this evening, report that that train was stopped by two masked men near Spring station, twenty-three miles south of here, with the evident purpose of robbery. An alarm that robbers was about was immediately given, and in the confusion that prevailed, the would-be robbers became frightened and ran off into the thicket which densely covers both sides of the road at that point.

Arrivals by Steamer.

NEW YORK, October 9.—Among the arrivals by the steamship Etruria from Liverpool today, were the following: Kyrle Bellew, Rev. Morgan Dix and family, John H. Roots and family, General W. H. Seward and H. McK. Twombly and family. The other steamers brought General Comte de Beaumont, Viscomte de Beaumont, Manton Marble, Lady Louise Ashburton, Sir R. R. Fowler, ex-lord mayor of London, and James Gordon Bennett. N. L. McReady, president of the Old Dominion Steamship company, died on board soon after the steamer left Queenstown. His remains ware brought here.

AN ODD BAPTISM

With a Chain Rattling Around His Neck.

CHARLEY EDWARDS MAKES HIS EXIT.

The Murder of William Echols—The Conviction of the Murderer—His Last Days.

CLARKESVILLE, Ga., October 14.—[Special.] This morning the clock in the steeple struck one, and Charley Edwards, the murderer of William Echols, realized that this was the first hour of the last day of his existence on earth. The sun rose and Charley might look on him for his last time with mortal eyes. The waves of human beings which passed by told him that many would come from far and near to witness his awful departure. He now felt the sting produced by murdering an innocent man. He could look with the eye of imagination and see the house of William Echols empty. With all this weight and crime upon him he said that God has forgiven him, and that soon his spirit will be in a better world. He says the iron chains which hang about his neck soon will be off, and in its stead will hang a robe washed white in the blood of the Lamb.

A sensational incident occured on yesterday. Thomas Scott, colored, of Toccoa, arrived at the jail where Charley Edwards is confined. He had been sent for by Charley for the purpose of baptizing him. The authorities had granted him that privilege, and soon the male members of the colored Baptist church were at work building a dam across the branch, just below the jail, for the occasion. The hour of twelve came, and with chain around his neck, accompanied by the sheriff, his deputy, and a guard of five, with double-barrel guns, Charley came out of the jail and slowly walked down to the water's edge. He stood by the side of the old preacher, looking calm, not in the least excited.

The third chapter of Matthew was read, after which the preacher said:

"Charley says he found Jesus precious to his soul on July the 7th, and let us pray."

The prayer was fervent and earnest. He then sang, assisted by the surrounding few:

Down to the sacred way,
The Lord of him was led.

He then went down into the water, and Charley was baptized. He rose and immediately exclaimed:

"Glory, glory to God!"

Then with a more satisfied look he was led back to the cell to spend his last night this side of eternity.

Sun-up found your correspondent at the jail, and found Edwards awake.

"How do you feel, Charlie, this morning?"

"I never felt better."

"Did you rest well last night?"

He did not answer to this question, but rose slowly from his couch and knelt down and prayed about five minutes. He then rose and said:

"I retired at 1 o'clock and did not go to sleep till 3 o'clock. I then slept soundly till you came."

"Do you feel prepared to die?"

"I do. The thought makes me happy."

"Do you feel more satisfied to die since you was baptized?"

"I do. All is well now."

"Do you still claim to be guilty of killing Echols?"

"I am guilty of that charge, but have never killed any other man, as has been reported. I will make a public confession and tell you all except what I want to come out in my life which I have written."

"You expect to have it published, then?"

"I will give it to my wife, and she can do as she pleases with it."

He then took out his pipe and lit it, and seemed to enjoy the smoke.

By 12 o'clock the throng was immense, numbering over five thousand. At that hour the prisoner was taken from the jail, drawn by two horses. He sat robed in white with black cap on, and was carried slowly to the gallows. He sang hymns all the way to his last place of existence. At 12:20 the sheriff led him on the scaffold accompanied by the county officers, Solicitor Ervin Thompson, Drs. Houston and Burns, A. J. Ketron, McJunkin and Moss, also two or three newspaper representatives. Preacher Scott, colored, presided in the religious exercises. Charley rose to his feet and said:

I want you all to know this, I am the man who killed William Echols; no one but me and the Almighty know I did it. No man knew that I was going to kill him. I will die feeling sorry for what I have done; I ought to die. I have been accused of killing three other men, I did not kill them. I only killed William Echols. You will find what I say in my life written by my own hand. Before killing Mr. Echols I stood by the road, one mile below Mount Airy, and when I saw him coming I did not mean to kill him, but in the dark I thought I saw him put his hand in his bosom, so I shot him with a pistol twice. He fell, but not dead. He said:

Oh, Lord! Oh, Charlie, do not leave me; I am in trouble!

I dragged him out of the road and struck him three times with a stick. I was sorry all the time that I shot him.

A question was asked from the multitude:

"Did you shoot him for money?"

"I did not shoot him for money. Lizzie Kinsy was the cause."

He then said:

"I love everybody. I hold no malice toward anyone. I hope to meet all my friends in a better world. Grieve not after me. I am sorry to my heart. The Lord is my help. Farewell!"

The rope was adjusted at 1:30 p. m., and the trigger sprung by T. J. Gastley, sheriff. The body was suspended fifteen minutes. One minute before his pulse was 130, temperature 99. The body was taken to Mount Airy by his friends for interment. Order was preserved all day.

STORY OF THE CRIME.

It was on the 29th of May last, at 9 o'clock at night, that William Echols, of Rabun Gap Junction, Habersham county, Ga., was on his way home from Mt. Airy, when Charley Edwards, colored, met him, one mile below Mt. Airy, and with a 32-calibre Smith & Wesson pistol, shot Echols dead.

He was not satisfied with one shot, but repeated it four times. Edwards told one of the important witnesses that after he had shot his victim the first time that Echols lifted his hands and exclaimed:

"Oh, Charley, what have I done that you should treat me in this way?"

Edwards thought he heard some one coming, so he dragged the dying man out of the road and down the hill, and there riddled his body with bullets. Not satisfied with this, he took a club and beat the dead man's brains out.

Edwards was arrested immediately after the murder, and on circumstantial evidence was placed in Habersham county jail.

The circumstances were so strong that no one doubted his guilt. The fact that he had made murderous threats and that he was missing at the time of the murder, and stronger still, that his shirt, pants and hat were spattered with blood, all told the story of the deed. But again—he told one of the prisoners who was in the same cell, that the pistol with which he killed Echols was buried under his house, and on examination was found where he had put it, and showed traces of blood. This evidence was enough, but what was still stronger, Charley Edwards says that he himself committed the deed.

On Thursday morning, the 8th instant, the town of Clarksville was crowded to hear the trial. At 8:30 the sheriff and deputy led the prisoner into the courtroom. A great many talismen had been subpœnaed, but before the regular twenty-four had been exhausted twelve men were selected to seal his fate. As Edwards had no attorney the state appointed one and the case was soon opened.

The evidence was so overwhelming that all the witnesses were not sworn. The attorneys did not argue the case, for to speak for or against was useless. Judge Welborn, in making his charge to the jury, said:

If you find the defendant guilty, then write your verdict: We, the jury, find the defendant, Charley Edwards, guilty. But from the evidence you should desire to imprison him for life, write your verdict; We, the jury, find the defendant guilty with recommendation to mercy.

In a very short time the verdict was rendered with more emphasis than the judge required: "We, the jury, find the defendant, Charley Edwards, guilty of murder in the first degree."

This sealed the fate of the poor wretch, but to him it was no surprise, for he knew what his doom would be, and for months had prayed that God might forgive him. In fact, when the sentence of death was passed upon him on the following Saturday, he seemed to be better satisfied; and while in his cell, with a chain around his neck, the jailer says he seems more content than before the trial.

There has been no effort whatever to postpone the hanging, the time being set for October 14.

The doomed wretch requested the ordinary, W. D. Hill, to come to his cell and allow him to make his will. He gave one of his town lots at Mt. Airy to his adopted son, and the other, with his dwelling and personal property, to his wife and only child.

Charley Edwards, previous to the time that he commenced to visit Mrs. Lizzie Kimsey, was considered to be of very good character, being accused, one time, of stealing a pistol from J. W. House, while employed by the Northeastern railroad. This pistol proved to be the one which shot William Echols, and the property of one of our fellow townsmen. Edwards was twenty-six years of age and born in Jackson county Georgia.

William Echols was a man of very good character and of some property. He was born in this county, and had never been looked on as a bad man. It is true, he visited the house of Lizzie Kimsey, but when he found Charley Edwards was visiting the same house he told his brother he would never go there again.

Mrs. Lizzie Kimsey is a citizen of Mt. Airy, and was indirectly the cause of the Echols murder, but was not tried in the superior court under charge of being an accessory to the crime, but has been tried and convicted of adultery with Charley Edwards, and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and cost or twelve months in the chaingang. The evidence in the commitment court was not sufficient to implicate her in the murder. When the woman was sentenced she giggled outright.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

All Communication with Charleston Cut Off—Is It Fire or Earthquake?

WASHINGTON, D. C., October, 15, 2 a. m.—Telegraphic communication with Charleston was cut off on all sides at 12:25 a. m. Nothing has since been heard from there up to the present writing. Communication is open with Summerville, but the telegraphers there can offer no explanation. They report no atmospheric or terrestrial disturbances. Railroad men, whose trains left Charleston this afternoon, report a large fire raging at Magnolia when they left. It is not clear how this could effect all the wire leading into Charleston.

It is learned that the Western Union wire centering at Charleston are so arranged that a fire among the extensive phosphate works at Magnolia would be likely to cut them off for a time. Such a fire is reported by railroad men who left Charleston this afternoon.

Fire broke out this afternoon in the after compartment of the steamship Bothel, loading with cotton for Bremen. There were about 2,800 bales aboard the ship, but fire was confined to the afterhold compartment, which was flooded and the fire gotten under control. The extent of the damage will not be known until a survey is made.

Struck With a Stone.

CHATTANOOGA, October 14.—[Special.]—It has just leaked out tonight that Tom Gleason was struck in the forehead with a rock during the jollification in this city on Tuesday night. The matter has been kept a profound secret, and only found its way to the public because of Gleason's critical condition. His friends live in Atlanta, and will probably be telegraphed for tonight. The police have been unable to learn who threw the stone.

Thomas Lee was sentenced to the penitentiary today for nine years for perjury, and Sam McClure for seven years for murder.

Fire in Chauncey.

EASTMAN, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—The lumber works of Mr. A. B. Steele, located at Chauncey, came near being the scene of a terrible conflagration. One of the lumber dryers took fire and was consumed, with about 35,000 or 40,000 feet of lumber. The large new saw mill and planing mill are in close proximity to the dryer, and but through the untiring efforts of the citizens of the town they would also have been destroyed.

The Hornet Grows More Stinging.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., October 14.—[Special.]—Tom Ellis, editor and proprietor of the Hornet, was arrested today on a warrant charging him with defamation of character. The last issue of his paper stated that a married lady living at a certain address had been acting in such a manner that she would be written in the Hornet if she did not call a halt. Today the lady had Ellis arrested.

Burial of the Late Minister Manning.

NEW YORK, October 14.—The funeral services over the remains of the late Minister Manning, were held this morning at the Trinity chapel. The pall bearers were General W. T. Sherman, G. T. Beauregard, J. Floyd King, E. L. Viele, R. W. Gilder, Percy Roberts, J. Pierpont Morgan, Henry R. Jackson, Governor Robert Green, of New Jersey; Roswell P. Flower, William Dorsheimer, George Preston, and Dr. William Polk. After the services, the body was sent by the Adams express to New Orleans.

ST. LOUIS 5, DETROIT 2.

The Fifth Game for the World's Championship.

NEW YORK, October 14.—The first game in the east for the world's championship, between the Detroit and St. Louis clubs, was played at Washington park, Brooklyn, to-day under favorable conditions. There were 10,101 spectators, and the weather was tolerably cool. There were many prominent Brooklyn officials in the great crowd. Among them were Mayor Whitney, District Attorney Ridgeway, Police Commissioner Carroll, Inspector Kellar, president of the board of aldermen; Olena, and several aldermen. A goodly representation of New Yorkers was also on hand. Following is the score:

St. Louis	2	0	0	0	0	2	1	0	0—5
Detroit	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	0—2

Base hits—St. Louis 7, Detroit 8. Errors—St. Louis 4, Detroit 5. Batteries—Carruthers and Boyle, Conway and Bennett.

Races at Jerome Park.

NEW YORK, October 14.—Cold and uncomfortable weather prevented the usual crowd from attending the Jerome park races today. The track was in good shape and the races fast and interesting.

First race, three-quarters of a mile, Stuyvesant won, Mamie Hunt second, Wilferd third. Time 1:17.

Second race, half a mile, Emperor of Norfolk won, Leo H second, Cascade third. Time 49¼.

Third race, three-quarters of a mile, Theodosius won, Ontario second, Mitta third. Time 1:17¼.

Fourth race, mile and a sixteenth, Richmond won, Stockton second, Eolian third. Time 1:51¾.

Fifth race, five furlongs, Rowland won, Armstrong second, Skobeloff third. Time 1:03.

Sixth race, steeplechase over short course, Wellington won, Harborough second, Hercules third. Time 3:15. Seafoam and Alex T fell, but neither horses nor jockeys were injured.

Latonia Park Races.

CINCINNATI, October 14.—Twelfth day of the Latonia Jockey club's meeting.

Her Trouble is Over.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., October 14.—[Special.] Gertrude Morris, an inmate of a house of ill-fame of this city, committed suicide this morning by taking an overdose of morphine. She was an habitual morphine eater, and had several times before attempted suicide.

ONWARD AND UPWARD

The Exposition Crowds Continue to Increase and

IT IS A GRAND SUCCESS UP TO DATE.

A Great Day of Racing Yesterday—The Attractions for Today—Points of Interest From the Grounds.

Yesterday topped the record.

It beat the opening day. It beat Wednesday, which was four thousand tickets ahead of Monday, and it holds the record as the biggest day of the exposition up to date. The crowd at the fireworks last night was enormous, and everybody was delighted with the exhibition.

Today will give Atlanta people a chance to see the exposition before the enormous crowds of next week come. It is an especially good day for children. A programme of bicycle racing and balloon racing has been arranged for them, while there are horse races for the grown people. We earnestly advise our friends to take their children out today, for it will be inconvenient to handle them in the enormous crowds of next week. The parents who do not let their children see and study this exposition will make a great mistake.

GLORIOUS RACING.

The Best Day's Sport Yet—The Races in Detail.

The horse racing yesterday was undoubtedly the finest ever seen in Georgia.

The programme included three running races, and the unfinished pace and all were closely contested and exciting. The crowd was a big one, the pool selling was lively, and everything moved along as smoothly as could be wished.

Colonel Lewis Clark, president of the Louisville Jockey club, and one of the best known lovers of racing in the country, reached the city late Thursday evening, and was in the stand as one of the judges yesterday. The others were Captain James Franklin, of Gallatin, Tenn., president of the Nashville Jockey club, and Mr. Joe Thompson, of this city. Judge Hopkins, of Thomasville, kept the time.

The First Race

was for runners, free for all, three-quarter mile heats. The starters were J. A. Williams's ch. m., Sirocco, G. M. Rye's ch. h., Our Friend, John Garcia's ch. g., Little Trumpet, J. A. Bland's ch. g., Artiban, and G. H. Kneeland's b. m., Mittie B. Mittie B sold favorite in the pools, with Artiban and Our Friend as second choice.

It took some time to get the horses away for the first heat, but the flag finally fell on a pretty start. Our Friend set the pace and held the lead around the turn, into the stretch and past the grand stand, Mittie B, Artiban, Trumpet and Sirocco following in the order named. Entering the backstretch, Mittie B pulled on the inside, and from there out it was a hard fight. Around the turn they flew together, and entering the stretch they were neck and neck Here Collins began using his whip, and Mittie jumped to the front, finishing winner in 1:20. Our Friend was a close second, Artiban third, Trumpet fourth, Sirocco distanced.

Mr. Rye, owner of Our Friend, claimed that Mittie B. had fouled his horse, but the judges thought otherwise.

Our Friend went again to the fore in the next heat, but Trumpet soon passed her. On the lower turn all four were in a bunch and it apparently was anybody's heat. On the back stretch Mittie B. made her run and went to the front where she stayed to the finish, winning in 1:21, Artiban second, Trumpet third, and Our Friend fourth.

SUMMARY.

First race, running, purse $200, for all ages; maidens allowed five pounds: first, $150; second, $50; three-quarter mile heats.

G. H. Kneeland's b. m. Mittie B., 110, (Collins) 1—1.
J. A. Bland's ch. g. Artiban, 110, (Fisher) 3—2.
G. M. Rye's ch. h. Our Friend, 113, (Dunn) 2—4.
John Garcia's ch. g. Little Trumpet, 105, (Rigens) 4—3.
John A. William's ch. m. Sirocco, 110 (Orce) dist.
Time, 1:20, 1:21.

The Second Race

was a selling race, and brought out six starters—Sunbird, Pat Sheedy, Pritchett, Jacqueminot, Lady Dean and Lottie C. Lady Dean's victory over Queen Esther on Wednesday made her a strong favorite, with Sheedy and Pritchett second.

Sheedy had a little the best of the send off, but the others were close. Around the turn Dean, Sheedy and Pritchett went together, and the race down the back stretch was a beauty. Sheedy gradually drew away, and Mittie couldn't catch him. As they came home both were under the whip. Lottie C. made a run of it, and managed to land in third place, Pritchett going back to keep Jacqueminot company. Sheedy won handily in exactly two minutes, and was heartily cheered for his work.

After the race Sheedy was put up for sale and went to his owners.

SUMMARY.

Second race, running—Selling purse $250. Horses entered to be sold for $2,000, to carry their proper weight. Allowances: $1,500, five pounds; $1,000, seven pounds; $750, twelve pounds; $500, eighteen pounds; $300, twenty-one pounds—$200 to first, $50 to second. Winner to be sold immediately after race, and any excess over entered price to go to the Piedmont Exposition company. One and one-eighth miles.

Time, 2:00.

The Markham House Stakes,

With its field of eight starters, was the most interesting race of the day. It was half-mile heats, and J. H. Fenton was a big favorite, with Lyles and Red Jim selling out, but at low figures.

They got away all together, after several attempts, Lyles setting the pace. Around the turn they whirled, Crown Prince, Red Jim, and Echo well up. They fairly flew along the back stretch, Fenton moving up inch by inch, until his nose showed in front. Entering the stretch, the favorite had a good lead and won with hands down. Crown Prince came down the stretch with a rush, and took second place, Bob Lyles third, Red Jim fourth and the rest close up.

The second heat was a repetition of the first, Fenton winning with Crown Prince at his saddle girths, Echo third, and Red Jim fourth. The others were distanced.

SUMMARY.

Third race, running.—Markham house purse $150, for all ages. First, $125; second, $25. One-half mile heats.

John Bailey's b. c. J. H. Fenton, 113 (Overton) 1—1.
Owen Daly's b. g. Crown Prince, 110, (Collins) 2—2.
J. S. Alexander's br. m. Echo, 105, (Washington) 5—3.

The Unfinished Pace

was sandwitched between the heats of the last race. On Thursday Bay Tom and Play Boy each won a heat. Yesterday Play Boy won two heats and the race. Time 2:31 and 2:32.

Today's races will be interesting, and should draw a big crowd.

THE FIREWORKS.

Another Magnificent Display of Pyrotechnics Last Night.

The display of fireworks last night at the exposition grounds, equaled in beauty and interest the display of Wednesday evening.

A more comprehensive compliment could not be given it, or a statement, or estimate more generally understood, be made about the display last night than to say it was up, in every respect, to that of Wednesday evening. In fact, there was only one drawback to the entertainment last night, and that was caused by a desire on the part of the management to please the crowd. The pieces were exploded too rapidly, and before the beauties of one were fully comprehended by the large audience another more fantastic in shape and richer color and beauty began to unfold before the crowd.

Notwithstanding the number of amusements in progress in the city last evening, the grand stand was well filled with interested spectators. The space in front of the grand stand and on either side was alive with people. There were very many more vehicles in and about the park last evening than at the preceding display, and the crowd was but very little smaller.

A number of pieces were repeated by request. "Jumbo," the elephant; the "see-sawing match," the "Niagara fire," were given the second time and gave immense enjoyment to the large crowd. The display of aerial artillery, the pleiades, asteroids, scorpions and harlequin rockets was exceedingly fine, and were given in abundance and often repeated. One feature of the display perhaps more appreciated than any other was the battery of bombshells exploding several hundred feet in the air and forming magnificent boquets of brilliantly colored lights. The rockets whose explosion represented a forest of silver fire were loudly applauded and the director in charge was generous and liberal with this feature, sending large numbers of them heavenward, where their silvery stars fell gracefully to the earth below.

The fire portraits of Generals Lee and Johnston, confederate generals, were exploded without a hitch, and the audience instantly recognized the familiar lines of the marked countenances as they were displayed in silvery colors of living fire. The artillery band played "Dixie" as the portraits burned before the people, the faces growing brighter and brighter until the very last, and the great audience caught the inspiration and cheered loudly and long.

A new feature, and one greatly enjoyed, was the Bartholdi statue of liberty, presented in many colors. Of course the piece was in miniature, but it gave a splendid idea to those of the great statue in New York harbor, now one of the wonders of the world. The great piece of the evening was Mount Vesuvius in eruption, showing in the foreground the bay of Naples covered with gondolas of pleasure parties, with a view of the cathedral and the city in the distance, the volcano in eruption belching forth fire and smoke hundreds of feet above its summit, terminating with grand explosions and earthquakes. All the pieces were displayed with great effect, and the whole exhibition was as creditable and interesting as the one of Wednesday evening. The next exhibition of fireworks will take place during the visit of the president, and the management will stake its reputation upon the fulfillment of the promise that it will exceed anything yet given. Those who have witnessed the exhibitions this week have an idea what can be done in this line, and the people are satisfied that the men who can give as wonderful and as interesting a display as the two already had are capable of doing almost anything in the way of pleasing and interesting a crowd with wonderful and brilliant fireworks displays. A great crowd will be present to see the next exhibition in this line.

A DAY OF BALLOONING.

Captive Ascensions this Morning—Del Dare's Marvelous Feats.

Today will be a great day for ballooning.

From 11 o'clock this morning until 4 this evening there will be captive ascents. A number of Atlantians have expressed a desire to take a trip to the clouds, and among those who will do so are some of Atlanta's most prominent citizens. There is no danger in these ascents, as the balloon will be strongly secured.

The "star" performance of the day, however, will be the ascent of Professor Del Dare, the famous aerial gymnast. The balloon car will be removed, and in its place there will be simply a trapeze bar. Hanging to this and performing upon it all the most difficult feats of the circus gymnast, Del Dare will make his trip to the clouds—a trip as high as that made by either of the other balloonists riding in the regulation car. The balloon used on this occasion is much larger than any which have been used heretofore.

Del Dare is a resident of Toledo, and his real name is—but he probably doesn't want that known. For fifteen years he has been numbered among the foremost circus and balloon gymnasts. For the past eight years he has devoted his time to the latter branch of the work, and is the foremost aerial gymnast in the country. His performances are wonderful. Everybody should see him today.

AMONG THE CATTLE.

A Cursory Glance At Some of the Beauties in the Stalls.

Not much has been said regarding the cattle, yet the display in this department is exceedingly good. The number of stalls is somewhat limited. But if there were ten times as many stalls, each one would have an occupant. Some of the cows, calves and bulls here housed, are among the most valuable ever put on exhibition any where in the southern states. There are various strains of blooded stock, among which there are fine examples of Jersey, Ayrshire, Devon, Durham and Holstein. The animals will be described more fully in future articles. At present, all THE CONSTITUTION has to say, is to advise all lovers of fine cattle to go out early today and take a good look at the exhibit.

THE EARTH'S RICHES.

Remarkable Exhibit of the Products of Mother Earth.

How significant the display of minerals and stone and coal is regarded, may be learned from what the Rev. W. C. Wisker, of Grimsby, England, said to a reporter last night. This distinguished visitor from abroad has been in the United States frequently. He is the correspondent of several foreign periodicals, one of which is the Home and County Journal, of Melbourne, Australia. Mr. Wisker has been visiting every section of the United States, and has written many valuable articles regarding the resources of the south. He has been a constant visitor at the grounds every day since the opening of the exposition. Said he: "In the execution of a purpose I formed some months since, and in obedience to instructions from those foreign journals which I represent, I came to the south during the cotton exposition and after passing a full month in the crescent city made a quick trip through this section. My jaunt was necessarily very hurried, and I could not see all that I desired to inspect. I am back to the south again on a similar mission. Several years ago I was forced by ill health to abandon the pulpit and follow some out-door avocation. I had been a journalist before taking orders and my inclinations were in the direction of newspaper work. I could not stand a sedentary existence, or I would have taken a place on the staff of some metropolitan journal. The London Foreign News agency made me a flattering offer to travel and do correspondence work, and I accepted it. But you wish me to tell THE CONSTITUTION something about my impressions of the great Piedmont exposition, and I cheerfully do so, although I will write up the fair in extense, in several newspapers in England and elsewhere. Well, permit me to begin by declaring that this exposition is a success. I know this is a trite beginning. Further, allow me to affirm, that in several specialities, this fair goes ahead of anything ever seen in the world. This language sounds like exaggeration, but it is not. I mean exactly what I say. Let me particularize. Of course, I do not refer to the horse show, the cattle display, the fine art exhibit, the agricultural department—these are all creditable, it is true, but the feature I wish to enlarge upon is the matchless, unprecedented collection of minerals, coal, marble and other stones. Never before has such an

THE BILL TABLED.

The House Takes Action on the M. & N. G. Bill.

A RATHER LIVELY DISCUSSION HAD.

Routine Work of Both Houses—A Number of New Laws Made—A Good Day's Work.

The house took up and considered yesterday Mr. Kimbrough's bill, to "repeal a resolution for adjustment of claims between the state and the Marietta and North Georgia railroad, approved October 7th, 1885."

Mr. Harrell of Webster—"In the argument made before the committee, I was charged with being the attorney of one of the parties. I have no cause of complaint of the speech of Mr. Smith, as a lawyer. It was not legitimate. Not knowing the motives of those attacking me, I dismiss them without notice. Mr. Harrell then gave a history of legislation on this subject up to the appointment of a committee. That committee found that the claim of the road was based on the loss of the use of convicts promised by the state. The damage claimed by them resulted from the failure of the state under the act of 1876—250 convicts for three years was promised to them. The constitution of 1877 took away from the general assembly the right to aid railroads or make a donation, but the right to loan their credit to them was reserved. The state loaned the road $66,000. But the facts elicited before the committee were that not had they worked the 250 convicts for three years, but had worked more convicts than they were entitled to. The committee found that the Marietta and North Georgia railroad had no claim, no equities in the matter. But the people of north Georgia expressed themselves as interested in the settlement of the matter, and a compromise was agreed upon, by which the state was to remit them the interest on the bonds and not pay the face of the bonds. This was accepted by Mr. Abbott, the attorney of the road, Mr. Eager and others as a finality. With this understanding it passed the house. If these men had been honorable men, it would have been a finality. The discussion on the bill emasculating the railroad commission excited attention, and the Marietta and North Georgia matter was lost sight of. Just before adjournment the bill came in from the senate, with the amendment donating the $66,000 instead of the interest thereon. It was passed without knowing what it was. The next day I moved to reconsider, and it was voted down. I then went to see the governor to oppose his signing it, but he had already signed it. Mr. J. P. Harrison sent for me to represent him as a tax payer to prevent the cancellation of the bonds. I referred him to Hon. Willis A. Hawkins, of Americus. Mr. Hawkins, who was ill, asked me to file the bill for him, which I did. Mr. Harrison proposed to pay my expenses, which I refused. The legislative act having been procured by fraud is void."

Mr. West—Where is the fault?

Mr. Harrell—Ah, my friend, I cannot tell that.

Mr. Way—Has the road not changed hands? Are there not innocent purchasers?

Mr. Harrell—I have no idea that there are any innocent parties connected with it. [Laughter.]

Mr. Harrell referred to the Yazoo fraud and the facts connected with its repeal, as a precedent.

Mr. Lamar—Did not the supreme court decide that the nullifying act was void?

Mr. Harrell—Only as to innocent parties.

Mr. Harrell then offered the following amendment to section one:

And declared null and void, and the grant or grants, right or right, claim or claims, of any person or corporation issuing, deduced or derived therefrom, or from any clause, letter or spirit of the same, or any part of the same, by or from any department of the state, is hereby annulled, rendered void and of no effect. And as the same was made without constitutional authority and fraudulently obtained, it is hereby declared to be of no binding force or effect on this state or the people thereof, but is and are to be considered, both law and grants, to be ipso facto of themselves void."

This is the exact language of the Yazoo fraud act.

Mr. Way—"If the legislature passes the present bill they will be guilty of fraud themselves. It is not a question of cancellation, not a question as to the judiciousness of the act; the legislature passed the act cancelling the bonds and it was accepted in good faith. I admit that the action was against the interests of the people. Will you do innocent parties injustice because the legislature did the people a wrong. If there was hasty legislation the Marietta and North Georgia railroad is not to blame for it."

Mr. Arnheim recounted the history of legislation on this subject in the last legislature, the compromise agreed on and accepted. We intended it for the benefit of the people of North Georgia, but they have not derived one dime from it. Mr. Arnheim had not concluded his argument at adjournment at 6 p. m. Mr. Harrell withdrew his amendment and offered one in lieu thereof.

At the night session the bill was tabled.

Chatham's Colonial Cemetery.

The bill of Mr. Gordon to vest in the commissioners of Chatham county the control of the "old cemetery" in Savannah, was taken up yesterday in the house and excited quite an animated debate. Messrs. Gordon and Reilly favored, and Mr. Russell, of Chatham, opposed the bill.

In opposing the bill and entering his solemn protest against the passage of the bill, Mr. Russell made one of the most interesting and eloquent efforts of the session. Mr. Russell said: "In colonial times, under General Oglethorpe, this cemetery was set apart and given to Christ church parish. Christ church was made a corporation under the law of Georgia, and was used for a cemetery, until closed by the city some thirty-five years ago."

In that cemetery repose the loved form of my wife and many distinguished and honored dead. Six years ago the city attempted to tear down the wall, but was enjoined. In eloquent and pathetic strains he protested against desecrating the last resting place of the dead. He was complimented by many legislators for his effective speech.

Mr. Gordon—I heartily indorse all that my colleague has said about veneration for the dead. No man entertains a higher or holier regard for that cemetery than I do. For generations past my ancestors have been buried there. It is the only cemetery of Georgia that requires legislative consent to enable a city to take charge of it. It was dedicated in 1757 for cemetery purposes. In 1822 the legislature gave the city control of certain property, but this was excepted therein. The county commissioners claim that they are the legal heirs of the Christ church parish, and entitled to control it. The city claims also control of it. During the war between the states the cemetery was desecrated by the soldiery, and graves and vaults robbed and dispoiled. It has been in an unfortunate situation. When the commission attempted to take charge of it the city objected, and vice versa. The ladies tried it, and were equally unsuccessful. As a consequence, the cemetery is in a woefully neglected condition. For the past fifteen years but one grave in it has been cared for. Trees have burst open the graves, and the open graves expose rotten coffins and whitened bones to view. The cemetery is the resort of unclean animals, birds and human beings. It is now desecrated. The bill proposes to change the order.

Mr. Berner—The bill does not desecrate the cemetery. The dust of all there is as dear to me as any one. We must disregard sentiment in regard to this matter, and consider what is best and wisest. Savannah and her laws are different from other cities. She still rests under colonial law. No transfer of property dedicated to public uses can be made except by consent of the general assembly.

The bill does for Savannah what is now the case in every city. The bill failed to pass for lack of a constitutional majority, the yeas being 81, nays 48.

An Inebriate Asylum.

Mr. Veazey offered the following, which was referred to the committee on temperance:

Whereas, the matter of the care, cure and restoration to health and usefulness of men habitually addicted to alcoholic stimulants and opiates is attracting the attention of philanthropists generally, and whereas, the matter is one worthy of careful consideration and investigation, therefore be it

Resolved, by the house of representatives, the senate concurring, that the following gentlemen be requested to serve as a commission to investigate the utility and feasibility of establishing in this state an asylum for the care and cure of inebriates and those addicted to the use of opiates, viz: Dr. Eugene Foster, of Augusta; Dr. J. P. Logan, of Atlanta; Hon. W. B. Hill, of Macon; Hon. B. N. Lamar, Dr. T. O. Powell, of Milledgeville; Dr. J. T. DeJarnette, of Putnam; Dr. Seth N. Jordan, of Columbus; W. G. Whidby, of DeKalb; Harper Black, of Americus; Lev. J. G. Gibson, of Crawford; Hon. Howell Cobb, of Athens; Colonel J. H. Estill, of Savannah; Hon. J. M. Walker, of Floyd, and Hon. H. W. J. Ham, of Hall, provided that they serve without cost to the state.

Resolved, That when they arrive at a conclusion they be authorized to lay their report before the governor, with the request to submit the same to the next general assembly, in his discretion, with such recommendation as he may deem best.

Senate Routine.

The senate was called to order at the usual hour yesterday, prayer was offered by Chaplain Jones, and the journal read and confirmed.

The first business in order was the reading of house and senate bills the first and second time. Fifty-three house bills were read the first time and referred to appropriate committees, and all house and senate bills ready for the second reading were advanced on their passage.

BILLS PASSED.

The following bills were read the third time and passed.

A bill to prevent stock from running at large in Lee county.

A bill to amend act making judge of the county court of Richmond county exofficio commissioner of roads and revenue.

A bill to prohibit manufacture of spirituous liquors in Fayette county.

A bill to amend tax act of 1887 and 1888.

A bill to amend registration laws of Wilkinson county.

A bill to prohibit hunting of game in White county in certain seasons.

THE SEDUCTION BILL.

The bill to amend section 4371 of the code of 1882, defining the crime of seduction, and prescribing penalties therefor was taken from the table, where it had lain some time.

Mr. Northcutt advocated the passage of the bill in a short speech, declaring that it was a necessity, and would, if passed, tend to check and intimidate a growing evil. Mr. Brantley opposed the bill. He thought it would not have the desired effect. Mr. James supported the bill, explained its provisions, showing the strong points, and earnestly advocated its passage. The bill was also supported by Mr. Hand, of the ninth district.

Mr. Pringle moved that the bill be recommitted to the general judiciary committee, which motion prevailed. It is very doubtful if the bill will pass.

HON. LINTON A. DEAN.

News from Hon. Linton A. Dean yesterday, was very favorable. A letter was received in which it was stated that while he had been quite sick he had not been as seriously ill as reported. Mr. Dean's friends hope to hear good news from him from now on, and confidently expect to see him in his seat before the session adjourns.

House Routine.

Mr. Brown, of Cherokee, moved to reconsider the bill incorporating the Catoosa Springs company, which prevailed.

Mr. Wilson moved to reconsider the bill enacting a road law for Camden county. Lost, yeas 45, nays 55.

Mr. Veazey offered a resolution appointing a commission on inebriate asylum, which was referred.

Several bills were passed and disposed of otherwise.

Senate bills were read the first and second time.

The house by yeas 48, nays 51, refused to agree to the adverse report of the committee on the bill providing for the better care of such lunatics in the state lunatic asylum as may be adjudged incurable.

A message was received from the governor transmitting the original quarterly reports of the department of agriculture for two years. On motion of Mr. Atkinson 200 copies of the reports were ordered printed.

Mr. West offered a resolution authorizing the governor to subscribe for a sufficient number of copies of Judge C. H. Sutton's "Georgia Justice," at not exceeding $2.25, which was referred.

The bill to repeal the resolution for the adjustment of the claims of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad against the state was discussed and tabled.

House bills were read the second time.

Senate bills were placed on a third reading, and disposed of.

Senate amendments to the bill requiring the registration of voters in Richmond county, were concurred in.

The committee on corporations recommended the passage of the bill amending the charter of the West End and East Point Street Railroad company.

The committee on roads and bridges reported adversely on the bill authorizing R. H. Hightower to erect piers over the Oconee river near Dublin.

The special judiciary committee reported favorably on the resolution authorizing the governor to subscribe for a sufficient number of copies of Judge C. H. Sutton's Georgia Justice at not exceeding $2 25 per copy, and to change the time of holding the fall term of Gwinnett superior court. They recommend that the bill amending sections 287 a and 288 of the code so far as relates to Calhoun county, "do not pass."

The committee on hygiene and sanitation reported in favor of the passage of the bill to prevent the spread of hydrophobia.

The committee on banks reported favorably on the bill incorporating the Monroe Banking, Loan and Guaranty company.

HOUSE BILLS PASSED.

Incorporating the Catoosa Springs company.

To pay to the widow of Hon. M. H. Hart the per diem and mileage due him.

Incorporating the Darien and Duboy Telegraph company.

Authorizing the board of trustees in Franklin to sell certain property and reinvest the same.

Ratifying certain extensions of the Covington and Macon railroad.

Incorporating the Columbus and Buena Vista railroad.

DYSPEPSIA

Causes its victims to be miserable, hopeless, confused, and depressed in mind, very irritable, languid, and drowsy. It is a disease which does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy to throw off the causes and tone up the digestive organs till they perform their duties willingly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven just the required remedy in hundreds of cases.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for dyspepsia, from which I have suffered two years. I tried many other medicines, but none proved so satisfactory as Hood's Sarsaparilla." THOMAS COOK, Brush Electric Light Co., New York City.

Sick Headache

"For the past two years I have been afflicted with severe headaches and dyspepsia. I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and have found great relief. I cheerfully recommend it to all." MRS. E. F. ANNABLE, New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Mary C. Smith, Cambridgeport, Mass., was a sufferer from dyspepsia and sick headache. She took Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it the best remedy she ever used.

J. C. HENDRIX & CO.

Tallapoosa Land f

WE OFFER FOR FIFTEEN DAYS LAND LOTS Nos. 101 and 102, 8th district of Haralson county. Four hundred and five acres of beautiful lying land, all wooded, with many fine springs and clear crystal branches, on the corporate limits of the city of Tallapoosa. The Georgia Pacific road runs through these lots; two surveys for new roads have been recently made nearly through the center; the main roadways split the property for more than a mile, making this tract the most available for subdivision and suburban residence property in the vicinity of that beautiful and growing city. The old Holland gold mine, now owned by Burke & Co., lays broadside, and that rich gold vein leads through this property. Beautiful indications are abundant of gold on it; also, silver and iron. Go and look at the land and make us an offer. If not sold within fifteen days will be subdivided and sold at once.

45 acres, finest body around Atlanta; can be subdivided and made a grand park villa, well shaded; lays high, in one of the best portions of the city. If you want a big thing call on us.

8-acre block on Capitol avenue, just outside limits of city.

8 acres on Pryor street near new glass works; also a number of fine shaded lots in vicinity of glass works and East Tennessee shops.

12 acres on Central railroad near West End.

6 acres on Central railroad, partly in West End.

14 acres western side of city; lays high and pretty; will make 56 choice building lots.

10 lots on Boulevard and Jackson streets, 80x300, on top of high ridge, affording a magnificent view city, country and mountains; street car on one front.

Lot 100x185, corner Rice and Boulevard, from which you can see nearly all the city, at a bargain.

A number of choice Peachtree lots.

8-room new house with all modern improvements, a gem, on Capitol avenue, near in.

12-room house, centrally located, with every convenience.

A magnificent Peachtree home, near in.

135 acres of farm land four miles from city; must be sold.

All classes of houses and lots and vacant lots.

Our sales have been good, but we are ready to wait on you. J. C. HENDRIX & CO., sep30—1m 31 S. Broad street.

NOTICE.

WILL BE SOLD AT THE STATIONHOUSE ON Saturday, 15th inst., at 12 o'clock m., unless sooner claimed by owner, one white and one red yearling, now in pound. A. B. CONNOLLY, Chief of Police.

GOSSYPIUM - PHOSPHO.

THE GREAT

COTTON AND CORN FERTILIZER.

This package contains the Celebrated Truitt Cotton Seed.

From this Seed Mr. Truitt made in 1885, by use of 720 lbs. GOSSYPIUM to acre, 7,898 lbs. lint cotton on a 5 acre patch, or 17½ bales of 450 lbs. each. In 1886, he made by use of 1,570 lbs. GOSSYPIUM to acre 8,833 lbs. lint cotton on 5 acres, or 20 bales of 442 lbs. each. In 1886, he made by use of 2,760 lbs. of GOSSYPIUM on one acre, 2,191 lbs. of lint cotton, or 5 bales of 440 lbs. each. The measurement of the land and yield of cotton in each instance was certified to by three disinterested and prominent citizens, whose character and standing were attested by the justice of the district.

Mr. Truitt has a crop now growing (Oct. 1) which promises similar results; and he invites farmers to visit him and see for themselves.

Those desiring to purchase this Seed can address G. W. Truitt, LaGrange, Troup Co., Ga.

SHELDON SWIFT, Receiver

NOT MENTIONED IN THE WILL.

Mrs. DeRenne's Will Probated in Solemn Form.

SAVANNAH, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—The will of the late Mrs. Mary DeRenne was probated today in common form before Judge Hampton L. Ferrell, of the court of ordinary. The will is dated April 25, 1884, and the witnesses are Miss Mary W. Owens, Miss S. I. Owens and Mrs. M. W. Thomas. The testatrix directs that the furniture, statues, pictures and books, her last residence at Ball and Liberty streets, and also of her residence at Warmsloe, remain where they are for the use of her daughter, Miss Letitia DeRenne, so long as she continues to use the houses, with the exception of such articles as she otherwise disposed of. To her daughter she leaves all of her certificates of indebtedness of the Central Railroad and Banking company. All the rest of her property, excepting certain jewels and pictures and wines and one hundred shares of the Augusta and Savannah railroad, she directs shall be equally divided between her children, Everard, Letitia and Kentwin. The one hundred shares of the Augusta and Savannah railroad are left in trust, the interest to go to her old servant, George Natall. At his death the shares are to go to the Episcopal Orphans' home. To the Georgia Historical society is left the copy of the letter of her late husband presenting to the Ladies' Memorial association the bronze statue of a confederate soldier in the park extension. In a codicil dated February 4, 1885, she directs how certain articles shall be distributed between the three children named above. If the testatrix had outlived them, her estate was to have been sold and the proceeds turned over to the Episcopal Orphans' home. No one but her daughter is to look over her papers. Her husband left the bulk of his estate in trust, the income to be divided between his widow, the late Mrs. DeRenne, and his daughter and three sons, Wimberly, Everard and Kentwin. The son Wimberly is not mentioned in Mrs. DeRenne's will.

THE GINHOUSE FIRES.

The Incendiaries Seem to be Loose in the Land.

DUBLIN, Ga., October 14—[Special.]—This morning at 2 o'clock fire was discovered in the public gin of Thomas H. Rowe, in the western part of town. Heroic efforts were made by the citizens who responded after the fire alarm was given, but to no purpose. The building, gin and about nine bales of cotton were totally consumed by the devouring element. The loss will amount to at least $2,000; no insurance. The best opinion seems to be that it was the work of an incendiary.

WARTHEN, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—The gin, saw and grist mill of T. Warthen & Co., of this place, was burned this morning about 7 o'clock. Twelve bales seed cotton and 1,000 bushels cotton seed and all fixtures. Loss over $4,000. Cause, friction about the press pinions. No insurance.

MARSHALLVILLE, Ga., —[Special.]—Last night about 11 o'clock the ginhouse of Mr. O. J. Massee, near here, was destroyed by fire, with ten bales of seed cotton, about two thousand bushels of cotton seed and a new six-horse steam engine. The loss amounted to about $1,800; no insurance. It is thought that it was the work of an incendiary, as no ginning had been done in two days. Mr. Massee is one of our most successful farmers, and it is quite a severe loss to him.

IN THE FEDERAL COURT.

The Sentence of Wm. H. Stelle Pronounced.

MACON, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—The following business was transacted in the United States court today.

In the case of Geo. L. Browning, a former postmaster from Telfair county, charged with making fraudulent returns to the postoffice department, the defendant entered a plea of guilty. His counsel, Mr. Walter B. Hill, made an earnest appeal for clemency and represented his client to be a man of good character. Mr. Hill also presented to the court a petition signed by the leading officials and citizens of Telfair county to the same effect.

He was sentenced to two months in the Bibb county jail and to pay a fine of $75.

In the case of Wm. H. Stelle, who was convicted on yesterday of the offence of carrying on the business of illicit distiller, his counsel, Hon. Charles Bartlett, also made a strong plea for clemency. The judge's sentence was an unusually fine one. It is to be regretted it can't be given in full. His sentence was two months of confinement in jail and to pay a fine of $100.

A sound mind goes very seldom without a sound digestion, and nothing contributes toward it more than the use of ANGOSTURA BITTERS, the world renowned appetizer and invigorator, manufactured by Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons.

Mrs. Bellany, whose graceful pen has contributed many choice gems of current literature, is lying critically ill at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Washington, on College street.

Miss Dollie Hunt, of Macon, will visit Mrs. John T. Moore during the Piedmont exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Blount will be at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Peel, on Peachtree street, during the exposition.

A Fact to be Remembered.

Do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask your druggist for ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS add let no explanation or solicitation induce you to accept a substitute, ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS are a purely vegetable preparation, the formula of which is known only to the manufacturers. Their valuable curative qualities are due to the employment of the highest medical and chemical skill. They act safely, promptly and effectually. Over 1,000,000 persons have been cured by ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

The Success of Mr. Towns.

SENOIA, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—Mr. C. B. Towns, who was married in Jacksonville, Fla., at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon to Miss Mamie Barber, arrived here with his bride Tuesday afternoon, and was given a reception at the home of his parents, Colonel and Mrs. J. O. Towns, on Tuesday evening. Mr. Towns left Senoia a few years ago to make Florida his future home and to engage in the railroad business. By the faithful performance of all trusts, he has merited promotion from time to time until he now holds the important position of general freight agent at Jacksonville of the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West railroad system.

The Brave Young Man.

He was known to all as a brave young man,
But, while pausing a moment the glories to scan
Of the scenes that lay 'round him, his heart stood still
And his whole frame shook with a death-like chill.

For the glen, whose wealth of mosses and ferns
Had lured him to venture its crooks and turns,
Was a cunning trap, and the rising tide
Had closed up the way to the beach outside.

All about him he looked in in wild despair,
For the swelling waters had hemmed him there,
And above his head a rugged wall
Of gray old rocks loomed grim and tall.

If he could but climb to yon towering crest,
Which never the foot of a man had pressed!
He would try! And he nerved himself to save
His life from the clutch of the coming wave.

Up, slowly and painfully, inch by inch,
He steadfastly climbed, and he did not flinch
When the cruel rocks tore his finger-nails,
And he marked his progress with crimson trails.

Hurrah for the youth! His peril is past!
All panting and breathless, but safe at last;
He pulls himself up to the crest, and there
His pallid lips murmur a grateful prayer.

But was he the first among living men
To climb up the side of that rocky glen?
No! for above he saw, while still he was kneeling,
"Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling."

COLUMBUS CHRONICLES.

Joe Brown in Trouble—Horse Thieves Loose—Etc.

COLUMBUS, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—Joe Brown, a negro who drives the baggage wagon for Mr. T. Miller, had the calf of one of his legs torn to pieces by a dog belonging to Mr. Randolph Hines, late this evening.

A buggy was stolen from the premises of Mr. Jerre Massey, in this county, last night. A horse was also stolen from Mr. M. Simons, in this city, and it is supposed that the thief went in the direction of Americus.

The mayor and ordinary issued their joint proclamation today, declaring the result of the election on extending the city limits. Rose Hill is now a part of Columbus.

A Mr. James Brown, of this city, was informed by telegraph this evening of the death of his niece, Mrs. Mollie Ried, which occurred at Leesburo, Fla., last night.

Russell county circuit court has adjourned until Monday, the 26th, when the criminal docket will be taken up. The first case to be tried is that against Tol and Joe Corden, charged with the murder of old man Sanders.

The grand jury failed to find a true bill against Martin Culpepper, charged with the murder of his wife.

About fifty Columbus people left for Atlanta today, to attend Piedmont exposition.

That tired languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

Four Hundred Bales Burned.

AUGUSTA, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—News was received in the city today of fire on the steamer Katie last Wednesday, about two hundred yards below Burton ferry. The Katie was bound for Savannah, with over seven hundred bales of cotton, and last Monday she got stuck on a sand bar. After remaining on the bar nearly two days, she caught fire, and all the cotton in the bow, about three or four hundred bales, was either burned or badly damaged. The bow of the boat was burned off. The fire was put out without further damage. She left for Savannah yesterday in a badly damaged condition. It is thought that none of the cotton belonged to Augusta, but was the property of planters along the line of the river.

That the capital stock of said corporation shall be one million dollars, with the privilege of increasing the same to two million dollars; said capital stock to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each. That the principal office and place of business shall be in the city of Atlanta, in said state and county, with agencies and offices at such other place or places in or out of said state, as the business of said corporation may require, to the extent even of removing its principal place of business from Atlanta to some place which may be better suited to the convenience and interest of said corporation. The object of said corporation is to carry on the business of quarrying marble, talc and iron ores, and their development and preparing the products of same for market; to buy, sell, work or lease marble quarries, iron and talc mines and real estate; to deal in all kinds of mines and minerals; erect such machinery, furnaces and all appurtenances thereto, as they may deem sufficient for the manufacturing and selling of the products of such mines, quarries and furnaces, owned, leased or controlled by said corporation, whether in curde or manufactured state. The further power of subscribing and owing stock in any incorporated company or companies, and to lend or borrow money, or issue bonds, to secure same by mortgage, deed or otherwise, not inconsistent with law. To acquire property in fee simple, or to hold or control mineral or other special interest therein. Wherefore they pray to be incorporated for the term of twenty years, with the privilege of renewal at the end of that time, and for the power under said corporate name, to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded with, to have and use a common seal, and at pleasure to change the same; to make by-laws, and change the same at pleasure, and generally to do and perform such things as may be done lawfully by like corporations under the laws of Georgia; and to have all the powers and privileges granted by the laws of the state of Georgia to like corporations, as fully as if specially prayed for in the foregoing petition.

TITLE GUARANTEE COMPANY.

Land Title Warranty and Safe Deposit Company, OF ATLANTA.

28 PEACHTREE STREET AND ROOMS 1 AND 2 CONSTITUTION BUILDING.

CAPITAL STOCK $100,000.00.

T. B. NEAL, President. ABBOTT & SMITH, Attorneys.

Business enterprise no less than business prudence demands that you have your titles warranted. Are you proposing to buy cheap property which your vender is indifferent about selling? To be sure of no trouble about the title, have it warranted for your own benefit. Are you wanting to sell to a buyer in different on account of the title? Clinch the trade by having the title warranted for the benefit of the purchaser. Are you proposing to sell at public outcry? Guard against luke-warm bidding by announcing that "Titles will be warranted by the LAND TITLE WARRANTY COMPANY." Are you seeking a loan on your property at low interest? Obtain a certificate of warranty on your title transferable as collatera to your mortgage, and you need nothing more. Send for circular. Address,

ALEX. W. SMITH, Secretary.

Something New About Cotton Seed.

Important to Cotton Planters and Ginners.

Independent of Monopolies at Last.

The American Cotton Seed company is prepared to furnish to ginners the Crawford Cotton Seed Cleaner. This machine removes all fibre from the seed, without damage to the hull, leaving it as clean as corn or other grain, and in condition for export. After the fibre has been removed, Cotton Seed can be as safely exported as wheat or corn. There is almost an unlimited demand abroad for cleaned cotton seed.

One ton of Seed will produce 200 pounds of short cotton, worth two cents per pound, and 1,750 pounds of clean seed, worth one dollar per hundred at Norfolk, Va., Wilmington, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Savannah, Ga., Mobile, Ala., New Orleans, La., and Galveston, Texas.

The machines are manufactured by the Carver Gin company, of East Bridgewater, Mass., and the reputation of this well-known firm is sufficient guarantee of their superior construction. They are simple, durable and inexpensive. Planters and ginners will find it to their advantage to hold their cotton seed until they can investigate this matter. For full particulars address

SHARES $100.00 EACH IN

Knickerbocker Heights Syndicate.

An absolutely safe investment, which will return over 33 per cent profits in less than one year. We have just secured a tract of the finest ground in the City Limits of Kansas City, in the midst of the fashionable residence section, at a great bargain, and are organizing a syndicate to handle it. We will plat and sell off in lots. The property can easily be sold in parcels to make a net profit of 33 per cent on every dollar invested in the syndicate. SHARES $100.00 EACH. The certificate is full paid unassessable and is transferable. It draws 8 per cent interest from date of issue, and also entitles the holder to receive such proportions of ½ of the net profits as the amount of the certificate shall bear to the entire sum in the syndicate. We retain the remaining ½ as compensation for our services. Secure shares at once by remitting New York Draft for amount of shares wanted. They are selling rapidly.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 15, 1887.

A Warning to the People.

We put our friends in Atlanta on notice that today will be the best opportunity they will have to see the exposition.

Every train on Sunday will bring in its dense crowd and a dozen excursions will be run. By Monday morning the exposition grounds will be crowded.

Today is the day to take children. The schools are all out and it is children's day. A series of balloon ascensions have been arranged for them; not one balloon ascension but several. They will begin at eleven o'clock in the morning and last until four in the evening. The last ascension will be made by a gymnast suspended from a trapeze attached to the balloon. He will perform the most perilous feats as he is drawn into the air and will remain upon the trapeze until he descends. This is a thrilling sight and the children will enjoy it.

Now, do not delay a single day. Get your children ready, get your ladies ready, get your friends ready and go out today to make a leisurely and intelligent study of the exposition. Everything is in shipshape order and the crowds will not be here so as to obstruct your view or locomotion. Every Atlantian and his family should see the exposition today, for next week Atlanta will have to give way to her visitors. Do not let anything prevent your going out this morning, for it is a study that you and your family could afford to make a day's journey to see, and this is your last chance to see it intelligently.

A CONVENTION of republicans will shortly meet in New York to discuss the condition of the party. We may state now, without any preliminary flourishes, that the condition of the republican party is very bad indeed.

ACCORDING to the Philadelphia Press, Mr. Halstead says that "Mr. Blaine has many things to think of." No doubt; but when a man begins to think of things, he is pretty far gone.

A Sorry Business.

Free trade organs like the Philadelphia Record are compelled to go a long way out of the beaten track for arguments. Here, for instance, is a characteristic paragraph from the gifted Holstein cow-pen of Editor Wm. Singerly, to-wit:

"Mr. Randall took the statistics for his Atlanta speech from the Manufacturers' Record. He would have done better to consult a cyclopedia. The Manufacturers' Record bulges like a balloon with the high pressure inflation of southern speculation."

The "high pressure inflation of southern speculation" to which Editor Singerly refers is simply a weekly report of the new enterprises that have been inaugurated in this section, including railroads, manufactories, and all sorts of industries. If the establishment of new industries and the development of the material resources of the south are to be characterized as "the high-pressure inflation of southern speculation," then Editor Singerly is wielding his eloquent Holstein cow-pen in a good cause.

But it is a very foolish pen for all that. The Baltimore Record has no interest in printing exaggerations, and if it did so its usefulness would disappear in a night. As matters stand, it is the Philadelphia Record that is slandering the south, and its slanders are based altogether on the fact that the people of the south love and respect Mr. Randall. All of them do not agree with his tariff views, but they can honor and respect a democrat who has the courage of his convictions whether they agree with him in every particular or not.

The Philadelphia Record is engaged in a very sorry business indeed.

An Old Murder Unveiled.

There is intense excitement in New England over the arrest of David Stair for the murder of J. W. Barron, the treasurer of the Dexter, Maine, bank.

The murder occurred nine years ago. Barron was found in the bank vault one morning so seriously wounded that he was unable to tell how the bank had been robbed or who had assaulted him. He died in a few hours, and it was rumored that his injuries were self-inflicted, and that he had committed suicide to cover his own irregularities. His family has rested under this stigma for nine years, and it is probable that the murderer would never have been discovered if his own son, Charles Stair, had not broken down under the weight of his guilty secret, and made a confession throwing the burden of the crime upon his father.

It is understood that young Stair's confession is supported by other evidence, and his father will in all probability be convicted. The old maxim, "Murder will out," is signally illustrated in this case, but we have an alarming number of murders in this country where the real criminals are never found. Still, it is encouraging to have an old affair like this one unraveled. If it convinces the rising generation of toughs that murder is a dangerous business it will do some good.

WESTERN UNION is not making any money at present rates. How would it do to lower them and thus catch some of the postoffice business?

France and the Panama Canal.

Despite the gloomy predictions made from time to time, work on the Panama canal continues to be pushed straight ahead. There is little doubt of the ultimate completion of the enterprise, if no unforeseen obstacle turns up.

The financial part of the business, however, may give DeLesseps trouble in the ... of a year or so. Even then it is not ... that the work will suspend. As the ... olders are all Frenchmen it is almost ... that the French government will ... of the canal rather than let the project fall through at such an advanced stage.

It is true that our congress has already warned the French government that its control of the canal will not be permitted by the United States, but when French interests are at stake France will not stand back on account of American opposition. Our government has been slow to appreciate the threatened difficulties of the situation on the isthmus, and it will probably be slow in dealing with them when they begin to take shape. More than once within the past few years it has been in our power to make such terms with the Colombian government as would settle the question of transit across the isthmus in our favor for all time to come, but we have dallied and played with the subject until the chances are now against us.

Sooner or later there will be a rude awakening. France and perhaps another European power will step in and attempt to control this matter of transit from ocean to ocean. Then our government will raise a row about the Monroe doctrine. An army will be raised, a navy will be built, and at a vast outlay of blood and treasure we will go to work and settle what could have been settled before without firing a gun, and with the most insignificant outlay. American statesmanship is capable of dealing with this problem, but how can it, when it is always engaged in preparing for the next campaign? There will be a very disastrous campaign, one of these days, for the statesmen who continue to neglect the important business down on the isthmus.

THE New York World has started an evening paper which appears to be a success. The people of the metropolis seem to hunger and thirst for evening papers. Some of the afternoon papers would do well to start a morning edition.

Coming to Their Senses.

The authorities in Chicago have been slow to learn the remedy for anarchy and culpably negligent in applying it.

At last, however, the men who are responsible for the peace and good order of the city have heeded the danger signals, and they now promise to act promptly and vigorously.

The action of the mayor in ordering the police to suppress George Francis Train is a step in the right direction. Mr. Train is not ordinarily a dangerous man. He is not dangerous when he is in New York, because the people there laugh at him. But in Chicago he is a firebrand. He may be a crank, but his eloquence is liable at any time to excite a mob of anarchists to a murderous pitch of frenzy.

So, it is better for all concerned that Mr. Train should be nipped in the bud, sat upon and squelched. If he attempts to speak he is to be locked up. This is the method which we have all the time advocated. If this treatment is good for Mr. Train, why will it not do for all the anarchists? Why should they be permitted to flaunt their red flags, hold their meetings and publicly plot murder and arson?

Prevention is better than cure in such cases. It is better and cheaper to jail a few anarchists before they go too far than it is to wait until after another Haymarket massacre. This is the common sense of it.

THE Philadelphia Press thinks that corruption will kill the French republic. But this is reading history backwards. If corruption could kill a republic, the republican party would have made a ghost of ours years ago.

A Correspondent Answered.

A correspondent, who says that he is a regular attendant at church, writes to inquire whether recent exhibitions of rancor and denunciation in the pulpit are not certain signs of decline and degeneracy. We take pleasure in reassuring our correspondent on this point. The pulpit is not only as pure as ever it was, but it is more powerful. Where one preacher rants and denounces, ten thousand preach the religion of Jesus Christ. Where one preacher uses sheet-iron thunder, ten thousand call attention to the gospel of love, mercy and charity which our Saviour preached.

Our correspondent appears to be anxious to make the same mistake about the preachers that the Rev. Mr. Candler, of Nashville, made about actors and actresses. It is always a mistake to make a sweeping judgment. Because there are some bad men and women on the stage, it does not follow that all men and women on the stage are corrupt. Because one preacher, or even ten preachers, make the pulpit the theater of denunciation, and dip their tongues in gall and bitterness, it must not be supposed that there is a tendency among ministers to indulge in that sort of thing.

On the contrary, the great majority of preachers of all denominations appear to have consecrated their lives to teaching the lessons of love, mercy and charity.

Ex-Sentaor Jones's Serious Illness.

From the Anniston, Ala., Hot Blast.

Ex-Senator Jones, of Florida, is undoubtedly dying of brain disease. He was not a temperance man, but harmed himself more than any one else. In mind as in physique he was robust and masculine. Rising from humble life and honorable toil at the carpenter's bench, he became a great lawyer and noted United States senator. His aberrations of mind were noticed some years ago, but did not become a public matter until he abandoned his seat in the "house of lords" at Washington and camped out at Detroit. While Mr. Jones was presumed to be in pursuit of a western heiress, we once asked a senator what was really the matter with him. He said: "Jones is crazy on several subjects—on religion, on women, on liquor and the constitution. It is a sad case." This unfortunate man had a lovable, genial, almost boyish temperament, allied to great strength of mind and body. He showed his metal by the progress made from the bottom of the ladder almost to the top.

We Must be Careful.

From the Dallas (Texas) Intelligencer.

Texas papers should not forget, in speaking of the train robber, that these are the times of libel suits. Indeed the day seems fast approaching when a jesting reference to the weather will be sufficient to nail an editor in the courts. In speaking of a horse thief it is safer to say a gentlemanly citizen who absent-mindedly rode off on another man's charger.

When We Die.

From the Medical Press.

A physician living on the seaboard thus writes: "Within the last five years, in a district embracing sixty square miles or so by the sea, I have noted the hour and the minute of no less than ninety-three demises in my own immediate practice, and every soul of them has gone out with the tide, save four who died suddenly by fatal accident."

OLDER THAN THE OBELISK.

A Local Forester Compares the Oldest Tree in the World With Our Modern Trees.

From the New York Mail.

"A fine tree, that?"

"Yes, but it is rather young."

"Rather young? Why, it is over 300 years old."

"That may be," returned the second speaker, who combines with his profession of architecture a profound knowledge of forestry, "but that it is not very old for a tree."

"Perhaps not for Europe or Asia, but recollect this is a new country," observed the reporter, who had accompanied him to Central park, where a handsome oak tree attracted their attention.

"How old do you think that obelisk is?" inquired the architect.

"A little over 3,000 years."

"Well, what would you say if I told you that in one of the younger states of the union I had sat under a tree that was full grown and vigorous when the Egyptians were toiling on that shaft?"

"I presume I should have to believe you."

"As you please about that. But I have chipped bark off a pine tree in Calaveras county, Cal., that spread shade over many square feet of ground before those pothooks were carved on the side of that column. This tree that I speak of is supposed to be the oldest tree in the world. Its age is estimated at 3,500 years. The climate of the Pacific slope seems to be wonderfully preservative for trees of its kind."

"Could a tree ever live that long in this climate?"

"I doubt it. No tree certainly ever has. But when you speak of this being a new country, bear in mind that all countries were made about the same time, and trees were not made by men."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

A Change of Name Suggested.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Would it not be a popular and excellent idea to change the name of Peachtree street (which is a little awkward to say anyhow) to Cleveland avenue in honor of the first president who has ever visited Georgia and Atlanta? It would be a neat compliment to him to have the handsomest street in the largest city of the empire state of the south named for him, and besides would be both prettier and more convenient name to articulate. I offer the suggestion and believe most of the residents of the street would favor it. Yours, "CAPITOL."

To the Members of the Legislature.

I desire to reply at once to the statements of Mr. Harrell, charging fraud upon the Marietta and North Georgia railroad company in connection with the passage of the resolutions approved October 7th, 1885, providing for a settlement of the claims of the state and the railroad company.

1. Mr. Harrell stated that the report of the finance committee in 1885, remitting interest on the bonds, was accepted as a settlement of the claims of the road. The joint committee examined witnesses upon this very subject. Mr. Eager and all the others who testified upon it, swore that the railroad company never agreed to accept the resolution to which Mr. Harrell refers as a settlement of its claim against the state; and no witness was introduced who on oath sustained this charge made by Mr. Harrell. I must earnestly insist that, to accept the ex-parte statement of Mr. Harrell, not under oath, to prove fraud, when a committee appointed from both houses has heard testimony, and found none except that which was contrary to the charge, would be unjust and contrary to all precedent.

2. Mr. Harrell stated that Mr. Eager deceived the legislature by representing that the railroad company was interested and liable for the payment of the state's debt, when in point of face, Eager alone obtained the benefit derived from this settlement, and Mr. Harrell read a contract made in 1881 between Mr. Eager and the road in which Mr. Eager was required to pay the indebtedness of the road. Mr. Harrell failed to call your attention to the fact that this contract from which he read was cancelled in 1883, and a new contract made between Eager and the road, and that in the contract made in 1883, which was the contract of force October 7, 1885, Mr. Eager was not required to pay the indebtedness of the road. Therefore, under the contract between Mr. Eager and the road, of force at the time of settlement, the road alone was liable to the state, and the road had no claim against Mr. Eager by which he was required to indemnify the road against the state's claim.

3. Mr. Harrell stated that Mr. Eager deceived the legislature by representing that Governor Colquitt had assured Mr. Eager, and his associates, before they became interested in the road, that the road was entitled to 150 convicts until the road was finished to the North Carolina line. The joint committee investigated this question, and a number of witnesses swore that Governor Colquitt did give the assurance claimed by Mr. Eager, and no witness contradicted them.

4. Mr. Harrell further insisted that the railroad company had used improper means in that it employed lawyers, who appeared before the committee, claiming to act in a disinterested manner, when, in point of fact, they were feed by the railroad company. The lawyers employed (their names were not mentioned by Mr. Harrell) were Judge Wellborn, Mr. Russell, of Columbus; (now deceased) Judge Sessions and Mr. Simmons, of Jasper. The proof before the investigating committee by the oaths of Judge Wellborn, Mr. Russell and Mr. Simmons, (Judge Sessions was not examined) and by the testimony of a number of other witnesses, was to the effect that these gentlemen representing the road, did state before the committee and elsewhere, that they were the feed counsel of the railroad company, and no one testified, before the committee, one word to the contrary.

5. Mr. Harrell criticized the manner in which members of the legislature acted at the moment of passing the bill; and he also criticized Governor McDaniel for the way in which he signed the bill; and when referring to the Yazoo fraud, Mr. Harrell expressed the hope that the money which the railroad obtained was not divided between those acting for the state at the time.

As to the last charge of Mr. Harrell, I simply desire to say that I am counsel for the railroad company, and not for those who represented the state. I think, however, that the character of the gentlemen who voted in favor of this resolution, including the character of Governor McDaniel, who approved it, are not in danger of injury from anything which may be said upon this subject by the gentleman from Webster.

I do not desire to answer the entire speech of Mr. Harrell at present. I had it taken down by a shorthand reporter, and as a matter of justice to my clients, I may reply fully to it in a few days. In the meantime I trust that the testimony taken by the joint committee will be laid before the legislature, and relieve those whose characters have been so recklessly assailed from the charges brought against them.

In the meantime, I hope the members of the legislature will appreciate the propriety of my addressing them publicly, my client's character having been so unjustly attacked. Let them be judged by the testimony produced before the investigating committee. That is all I ask.

Respectfully, HOKE SMITH.

"O George!" cried young Mrs. Merry, running to meet her husband at the door. "I've something the best to tell you."

"No?" said George. "What is it?"

"Why, don't you think—the baby can talk! Yes, sir, actually talk! He's said ever and ever so many things. Come right into the nursery and hear him.'

George went in.

"Now, baby," said mamma, persuasively, "talk some for papa. Say, 'How do you do, papa?'"

"Goo, goo, goo, goo," says baby.

"Hear him!" says mamma, ecstatically. "Wasn't that as plain as plain can be?"

George says it is and tries to think so too.

"Now say 'I'm glad to see you, papa.'"

"Da, da, boo, bee, boo."

"Did you ever?" cried mamma. "He can just say everything! Now you precious little honey bunny boy, say, 'Are you well, papa?'"

"Boo, ba de, goo, goo."

"There it is," said mamma, "Did you ever know a child of his age who could really talk as he does? He can just say anything he wants to; can't you, you, you own dear little darling precious you?"

"Goo, goo, dee, di, goo."

"Hear that? He says, 'Of course I can,' just as plainly as anybody could say it. Oh, George, I really worries me to have him so phenomenally bright. These very brilliant babies nearly aalwy die young."

Sumner's Sayings.

A. B. Johnson in the Cosmopolitan.

Some of Sumner's sayings used to be quoted as good things. During reconstruction times a senator spoke of Governor Walker, of Virginia, as a pillar of the state.

"Yes, a caterpillar," growled Sumner, in a tone sufficiently loud to be heard in the immediate vicinity.

When Senator Douglas, the little giant, was making his peculiar doctrine fashionable, during the debate on the Kansas-Nebraska bill in the fifties, some one, asked:

"After all, who was the first squatter sovereign?"

"Satan," replied Sumner. "Milton says:

"'—him there they found
Squat like a toad close at the ear of Eve
Essaying by his devlish arts to reach
The organs of her fancy——'"

It was Sumner who said that what the republican party wanted was, first, backbone; second, backbone, and third, backbone; and it was he who gave a new word to politics when he characterized a certain report made by General Grant to President Johnson as "whitewahs."

Mrs. Bowers as Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. Bowers's presentation of Elizabeth has become as standard to the stage as the wonderful play is to the world of literature. Everywhere the reception of Mrs. Bowers has amounted to an ovation, but at no place has she met with a warmer reception than the one she received last night. The third act was wonderfully strong, and the great actress carried the audience spellbound.

Mr. Henry Aveling, as Robert, Earl of Essex, made a decided hit, fully sustaining his high reputation. The entire support was good.

This evening, at the matinee, Mrs. Bowess will appear in Lady Audley's Secret, and tonight in Madame Croesus.

A Pair of Kids.

We say, like everyone who has seen it, go and see the "Pair of Kids." It is grandly funny according to the Baltimore Herald, which said:

"An immense audience greeted Ezra Kendall in 'A Pair of Kids' last night at Ford's Grand opera house. So great was the crowd that it was found necessary to suspend from the box-office window the sign 'Standing Room Only.' The play is ridiculously funny from beginning to end, and the audience was kept in laughter during every act. The company throughout is good, very good, of its kind, and the kind seems to be the thing just now. 'A Pair of Kids' will doubtless repeat its highly successful run of last season."

A HIDDEN CRIME.

How a Brutal Mate Was Murdered in Mid-ocean.

From the San Francisco Alta California.

"What's that you say! Murders ever committed at sea that are never found out? Well, I should say there were."

The speaker was a tall, well-formed, bronzed mariner, the chief officer of an American ship now lying at the seawall. He has followed the sea from his infancy, for he was born on it, and the forty-five years of his wave-tossed life have been full of incident and adventure.

"Yes," he went on to say to the reporter who was his listener, "there are many, many crimes committed at sea which never come to light, and many is the old shell-back whose hand is stained with blood. Talking of this puts me in mind of something that occurred to me, a case that furnishes an instance in point. It happened about six years ago that I was stranded in this port without a rag. I had been ashore about six days, ample time for an old shell to get away with his all, and I was determined to ship as soon as possible. There was at that time in port as pretty a little ship as I have ever seen. She was the very craft to charm a sailor's heart. Long and low of hull, with tall, raking masts, she had the run of a clipper, and was as clean as a man-o'-war.

"I took a fancy to the Sea Foam at once, and hearing that the captain wanted men, I went aboard and was shipped as bo'sun for a voyage to Cork. I found the old man a splendid fellow, bluff and hearty, a real sea-dog, who liked his glass of grog and whose nose showed his liking. The second mate was a nice young man, but the mate was a queer card. He'd never look you in the face, was always talking to himself, and would fly into terrible paroxysms of rage. Even in his sleep he could not keep quiet, and the stillness of the night watch would often be disturbed by his shrieks for 'mercy' and his cries of 'I did not do it; it wasn't me.'

"I at last came to the conclusion that the man was tormented with remorse for some past crime. As the days of the voyage wore on I became more and more convinced that my belief was correct, and that the mate was a criminal, but the real truth was to be revealed to me sooner than I expected.

"It was on Trinity Sunday, 1881, and we were in 45 south and 120 west when we were overtaken in one of the heaviest gales it has been my lot to encounter. The glass had been jumping about as if it had St. Vitus dance. The old man had foreseen the gale, which broke on us from the southwest, and we had everything snug when the first blast struck us and keeled us over till the water poured down the companion way. Luckily, we had brand new top sails and trysails, or the devil himself could not have saved us.

"We were lying up to the wind pretty steadily when eight bells struck at midnight, and the mate got ready to go below. Poor fellow! he never got below by himself, but had to be carried there, for a sudden lurch to leeward threw him across the poop deck, and at the same moment the spanker boom carried away from the mast and fell across his chest. When we picked him up he was senseless, so we carried him down below and brought him around with some brandy. But he was a dying man, and he knew it. 'Tell the old man to come here,' he said, and the captain was brought alongside. 'Captain,' he said, in a hoarse whisper, while every now and then the welling blood choked his utterance; 'I have a confession to make. I was afraid to make it before, and it has rendered my life a burden to me. Three years ago, captain, I shipped before the mast in the Marietta brig of New Orleans, bound with cotton for Liverpool. I forget the old man's name, but the mate was named Roberts, and he was a brute. Hardly had the ship left harbor before he commenced to ill-treat the men, but a terrible punishment was to overtake him. We had been out six days, the weather was fine, and I had the first wheel in the afternoon watch. The stores were to be given out that afternoon, and at two bells I saw a man coming aft with some kids in his hands to get the stores. In a quarter of an hour he returned carrying a kid of molasses. As he came out of the booby hatch the captain's dog, a snarling little cur, bit him on the leg and he fell, spilling the molasses on the deck. The mate saw the accident and, going deliberately up to the man, kicked him in the face, and the poor wretch rolled over senseless. The inhuman mate was not punished, however. He raised the prostrate man's head up and laid it on the overturned kid. Then, getting astride the man, he raised his foot and kicked the poor wretch beneath the nose, tearing the nostrils clean off so that they hung over the back of his head. He then set the dog on the man, and the cur completed the mate' work by tearing the bloody nostrils off altogether.

"'The mate laughed. 'Take him forward,' I could hear him say to the men who were gathered round fingering their knives in a threatening manner. They lifted their wounded, senseless comrade and took him forward as the mate went below. He presently returned and proceeded to take the sun. He stood abaft the main rigging on the port side. He raised the sextant and looked intently at the glowing sun. I saw the men consulting together, and then one stepped forward. He was a big brawny collier. Picking up a heaver, he stole behind the mate and brought the iron bar down with crushing force on his head, dashing his brains out with the force of the blow. The other men rushed aft, picked up the body and dropped it overboard with the sextant. A few buckets of water washed away all evidence of the crime, and the men resumed work.

"'At four bells the old man came on deck, looked around for the mate, but not seeing him, went below again. In the meantime I was relieved. I went forward. 'Did you see anything?' asked the collier. 'No,' I answered. 'I am glad of it,' was the reply, 'for there's more heavers in the ship.' Passing by the main rigging, I looked over; blood and brains bespattered the chain plates. I drew a bucket of water and washed it off.

"'I had scarcely finished when the skipper came on deck again, very much excited. 'Who's seen the mate?' he asked. No one had. The ship was searched, but no mate was found, and at last the search was given up, the captain concluding that his chief officer had fallen overboard, though how was a mystery.

"'We arrived in Liverpool all safe, the second mate as first and the boatswain as second officer. The tragic story was never told, and I have lived in hell ever since.'

"The excitement which had kept the mate up now failed him, and he fell back on the table with the death rattle in his throat. And there, amid the shrieking of the wind and the groaning of the vessel, the poor fellow died, the little oil lamp casting a weird light on his pale, convulsive features.

"There, sir," concluded the mate, "was a crime which was never avenged, for though we laid the facts before the proper officials on our arrival in Liverpool the murderer was never discovered. Yes, sir, the sea has many mysteries."

RUN OVER AND KILLED

On the Richmond and Danville Railroad Track.

JOHN GLENN LITTLE'S UNTIMELY DEATH

A Young Man Stands Upon One Track Watching a Train and Another Train Kills Him.

John Glenn Little, a young man who came to Atlanta several years ago from Lawrence Courthouse, South Carolina, was knocked down and run over by the Air-Line belle train yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, near the Oakland cemetery crossing.

Later in the day Little died of the injuries received.

From all that can be ascertained Little's death appears to have been due largely to his own carelessness, or to a disregard for life. Early yesterday morning, probably an hour before the accident occurred, Little appeared at the cemetery crossing, and approaching W. D. Allen, the watchman, introduced himself. He then began talking with Mr. Allen, telling him that he was searching for work and that he had begun to grow weary in hunting for what he could not find. Little was a young man of good appearance and was quite an interesting talker, and as Mr. Allen's time was not wholly taken up with his work, he listened to the young man with pleasure until the Georgia railroad train came in sight approaching the city. As the train moved forward Little asked:

"Does that go into the main depot?"

"No, it stops at the freight depot a block or two this side," answered Mr. Allen.

"Then I believe I will climb on the caboose and ride up," remarked Little.

As he spoke, the young man stepped across the track, and upon the end of the crossties of another track running parallel with the one upon which the Georgia freight was moving. The edge of the track upon which he stood, was the one used by the Richmond and Danville trains and upon it the Air-Line belle was then moving backward, being pushed from the passenger depot to the shops. When Little got upon the Air-Line track he stood facing the Georgia train, with his back towards the Air-Line belle, which was then nearer to him than the freight. The watchman had seen the belle, and presumed, of course, that Little had seen it too, but as he made no attempt to get off the ends of the ties as the train came closer to him, Allen called out:

"Take care, there! There comes that Air-Line train."

Believing that Little had heard the warning and would leave the crossties before the train reached him, Allen turned his attention to the freight, which was drawing nearer. In a minute, however, he glanced toward the Air-Line track again. Little had not changed his position, and the rear end of the train was within a few yards of him. His eyes were apparently riveted upon the freight train, and fearing that the man did not realize his danger, Allen raised his flag and again yelled:

"Look out, there; that train will strike you."

Little turned his head toward the Air-Line train, and at the same time stepped across the rail upon the track immediately in front of the coach. In a second the end of the car struck him. The train was moving with a fair speed, and the force was sufficient to knock the man down. In the fall Little's body cleared the rail, but his legs fell across it and the wheels passed over them. In some way his coat became entangled in the brake, and as long as the train moved the unfortunate young man was dragged along the ground, his head and face thumping against the ends of the ties.

Two or three men were standing upon the rear platform when the accident occurred. They saw Little upon the track before the car struck him, but presuming that he would leave the track made no attempt to stop the train. They were of course horrified when the man stepped across the rail upon the track directly in front of the train, but were then powerless to avert the accident. The train was stopped as quickly as possible and the man taken out. His face was bloody and bruised and his feet hanging by a shred. Almost immediately after he was removed from under the train he looked about him, remarking:

"I guess the road will have to pay for this."

The train men about Little made him as comfortable as possible, and sent for a physician. Dr. Wm. Perrin Nicolson, surgeon for the Richmond and Danville, responded, and had the injured man removed to the Ivy street hospital, where his injuries were carefully examined. At a glance the doctor saw that both legs would have to be amputated. On the head he found a number of cuts and contusions, some of which were in themselves dangerous. The man's general condition was against his recovery, and in a short time Dr. Nicolson became satisfied that an amputation could not be undertaken until a change occurred. He did what he could to relieve the young man's suffering, and then began awaiting the change. The patient, however, commenced sinking rapidly, and about half-past two o'clock in the afternoon, died.

At first, no one could be found who knew anything about the dead man, but later in the day it was ascertained that he was a grand nephew of Mr. John Glenn, who has been connected with the Georgia road for years. Mr. Glenn identified the young man, and his body was removed to Patterson's undertaking rooms and prepared for shipment to Lawrence courthouse, South Carolina. It will not leave the city, however, until Coroner Haynes can hold an inquest this morning. Little, though an entire stranger in the city at the time of his death, was well known in Atlanta a few years ago. He was born and reared near Lawrence courthouse, South Carolina, and came to Atlanta several years ago to accept a position in Robinson's box factory. Later he returned to his home and again came back to Atlanta. From Atlanta he went to Texas, and from Texas to Columbus, Georgia, where he secured a position in a railroad yard. A few days ago he secured a leave of absence of ten days to come to Atlanta. Day before yesterday he called upon some relatives, with whom he dined, and promised to return again the next day. He was about twenty-three years of age.

A Beautiful Comparison.

From Tid-Bits.

A Nevada chicken was seized by a hawk, carried a mile, taken away by a crow, and carried two miles more, and in spite of all turned up at its home without a scratch. How little things sometimes remind us of a trip of the average Boston man to New York!

He Had the Suburbs.

Burdette.

"That fellow wants the earth," remarked the clerk, as the tall guest disappeared after making many demands. "Him?" said the porter; "you couldn't give him the earth; he owns three town lots in Wichita."

THE NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT.

Read at the Banquet Given in Honor of F. H. Richardson.

We are happy, wise and witty,
As we skip about the city,
And we catch the frisky item on the fly;
If there are free passes given
Then we hope to go to heaven
In a Pullman palace "special" when we die.

Now we watch the situation
Of affairs in this great nation,
And we guide the public sentiment aright;
Whether sanguine strife or civil
When there's good opposed to evil
We will ever be found foremost in the fight.

While the silent city's sleeping
We, our lonely vigils keeping,
Busy making current history as we go;
Sketching scenes of grief and gladness;
Writing tales of joy and sadness;
Of this strange kaleidoscopic life below,

Of fair fashion we're the mirror,
And of dudes we are the terror,
And we make the one-horse politicians hum;
And the bill collectors shun us
For it makes them sick to dun us,
And our impecunious nature strikes them dumb.

Thoughtless men may jeer and flout us
But they cannot do without us,
And they'd just as well to recognize our worth;
Though the green bays may not crown ...
This big world shall never down us,
Just as long as we're on top side of the earth.

exhibition of these riches, taken from the bowels of the earth, been displayed in collective form for the inspection of the public. There is a wonderful variety of coal, and such a variety of iron ores I have never before seen. The marble from the quarries of North Carolina, the granite and other building stone from Georgia, the coal from Georgia and Alabama, the copper, gold and black lead and other minerals from this state and adjoining states is wonderfully rich. They form a book of the south's advantages, an epitome of this section's riches. I have spent nearly three whole days in these departments. The railway companies have shown wisdom and enterprise in making their displays, and the cities of Gadsden, Anniston and Sheffield, and others, have done equally well in showing their riches. I was struck with Governor Gordon's speech where he made the remarks about the matchless wealth of the rivers, mines and fields of the Piedmont region. My study here on the ground among the manifold object lessons spread out has verified all his claims. This region has enough coal to light all the hearthstones and furnaces of the world for a century to come. It possesses enough building stone to build more houses than stand in all the cities of the world. It yields yearly enough cotton to clothe all the human beings in Christendom. This is almost a paraphrase of what your patriotic governor said. I have written this and emphasized it in my letters regarding the exposition. There is one more thing I wish to say a word about, and that is the heavenly weather we are enjoying. Such balmy, sunshiny days as these are almost unknown in England. I think your climate one of the most attractive things in your favored section. If my opinion is worth anything you may quote me as saying that Atlanta has achieved a phenomenal triumph and deserves the praise of the whole south."

To see to advantage everything in the sections allotted to stone, coal, minerals, etc., one must not think of hurrying through in one day. One week devoted exclusively to the inspection of the exhibits made by the railways and the towns and counties would hardly allow a person to learn all about them. This is, beyond doubt, a wonderful feature of the fair. Many persons of intelligence and keen insight, who were at the Philadelphia centennial and the New Orleans exposition, declare that in these departments the Piedmont exposition has never been equalled. Yesterday the building was crowded from early in the forenoon until dark.

Another Faultless Day.

Had the officers of the exposition been given the power to make a perfect day, they could not have improved on yesterday. It was indeed faultless. Just warm enough. Just cool enough. Bright and lovely. Nothing more could be desired. Nature smiled all day long. And the people smiled, for they were happy. The day was not less genial than were the fifteen thousand people on the grounds. In many regards yesterday was more successful than any day since the opening. Every building was visited by throngs of sight seers. The main building was actually crowded, and locomotion was not easy in the machinery hall or the agricultural section. The exhibits looked better than ever. Every one is now complete. Nothing remains to be added or improved. The exposition has reached its highest point. Next week there will be no time or opportunity to study quietly all the displays. This is why THE CONSTITUTION urges everybody to go out to the grounds today. Don't wait until next week.

Feeding the Visitors.

Thus far no difficulty has been experienced in providing the swarms of visitors with food. The lunch counters, dining rooms and restaurants have done a thriving business since the opening day. The cooking is good and the prices reasonable. One of the favorite resorts for those in quest of meals is the elegant and spacious restaurant immediately under the western wing of the grand stand. This is equal in all its appointments to any restaurant in Atlanta. The cuisine is excellent. The famous French cook who presided over the kitchen at Salt Springs is employed here. The orders are promptly filled, and everything glides along as smoothly as one could desire. There is no necessity of anybody who wants a good dinner to leave the grounds. He can get it here, and will not be gouged, either.

A Work of Art.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: It was my good fortune in passing through the main building at the exposition, today, to have my attention called to a work of art not in the art gallery, which deserves a notice in your columns, and the attention and study of visitors at the exposition. I refer to a reproduction, in black and white, by an artist now resident in Atlanta, of the great picture of this century, as it has been called, viz: Munkacsy's "Christ before Pilate."

The original painting, purchased not long ago by Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, with the princely sum of a hundred thousand dollars, has been on public exhibition in New York, Boston and Chicago, and is now in St. Louis, I believe; and has been written about, talked about and preached about more than any painting ever seen in this country.

Being familiar with the painting, from recent views of it this summer in Boston, I was struck with the faithfulness of the reproduction.

It is located on the left as one enters from the south side in the exhibit of Grand Rapids furniture. Could it be hung in a central position in either the north or south wing up stairs, I venture to predict that it would interest more people than any other one picture in the exposition. Respectfully yours, A LOVER OF ART.

PROGRAMME FOR TODAY.

The programme for today is an interesting one.

At 10 o'clock one, two and three-year-old colts and roadsters will be shown in front of the grand stand, and Jerseys and other cattle will be shown in front of the cattle barn.

From 11 o'clock until 4 there will be captive balloon ascensions.

At 1 o'clock there will be bicycle races.

At 2 o'clock there will be interesting horse races.

At 4 o'clock Prof. Del Dare, the aerial gymnast, will make a balloon ascension, his trapeze bar taking the place of the balloon car.

Exposition Notes.

Yesterday's crowd made the heart glad.

Everybody enjoyed the races yesterday.

The foot races today will be a feature of the fair.

The hackmen have come down in their prices.

The balloonists will do some fine work this afternoon.

The music of the Second Artillery band is much enjoyed.

The gate-keepers and ticket-sellers are courteous and quick.

"The house that Jack built" excites a good deal of interest.

The Air-Line railway can handle over 6,000 passengers an hour.

The pool-selling feature is becoming more popular every day.

Mr. Cooper, of Boston, is here with a fine exhibit of his pianos.

Julian A. Selby, of Columbia, S. C., is here "doing" the exposition.

Professor J. D. Caldar's cabinet of minerals attracts great attention.

The policemen on the grounds maintain perfect order without any trouble.

The poultry show is the finest ever seen in this country or anywhere else.

No matter how soon the gates open, a number of visitors are ready to be admitted.

Tips were in demand yesterday, and those who got them got left, as a general thing.

The Hon. Charles C. Winbush, of Richmond, Va., says that he has never seen a better fair.

Great horse and cattle show this morning. Don't fail to see it. Take your children.

The local music dealers make a wonderful show, which will hereafter be described in detail.

The constitution of Georgia, as produced by the Etowah Mining company, is a unique device.

First class furnished lodgings at 31 North Pryor and 184 South Pryor for visitors to the exposition.

Over 100 flags were fluttering in the exposition grounds yesterday. They were of all colors and designs.

Dr. William D. Bryan, of Charleston, declares that the exposition is equal to the Philadelphia centennial.

says: "It beats any fair that I have ever seen, and I have attended a good many."

Mr. Charlie Spaulding, the veteran drummer, says: "Go way. Why, this thing beats the world. There never was anything like it."

One great attraction at the exposition is the large number of pretty women. There never were so many beautiful women together at any one time.

Mr. Julius L. Brown was on the grounds the greater part of yesterday. To a reporter he expressed himself in words of warm praise touching the exposition.

Today will be a splendid day at the grounds. There will be captive balloon ascensions and a cut away ascension with Del Dare, the great gymnast, suspended from a trapeze. Don't miss it.

Colonel S. A. Pearce, president of the Columbia, S. C., board of trade, and Alderman William Lowrance, of that place, will visit the exposition today in company with a number of South Carolina people.

Mr. Julius S. Scruggs, a distinguished politician of California, and a party of Omaha people reached Atlanta last night, and will stay in the city till next Wednesday. They will take in the exposition today.

Last day for a chance to study the Exposition. The enormous crowds next week will shut you out. Be sure and go today.

No lady should fail to see the Smith & Egge family button-hole attachment, exhibited at the Singer sewing machine stand. It is inexpensive, does its work perfectly, and is so simple that a ten year old child can operate it.

Yesterday afternoon, during the selling of pools, six or eight belts and carriages full of young ladies were stationed just in front of the pool-seller's little house. The presence of these belles deterred many young men from backing their judgment on the races.

The most thrilling feat ever given at a southern fair will be performed by Professor Del Dare at the exposition this evening. He will ascend in the balloon hanging by his toes to a trapeze suspended from a basket. This is the most perilous ballooning feat ever attempted in the world.

The carrier pigeons for Cincinnati will be loosed this evening for the great pigeon race. Exposition grounds. Take your children.

Captain Whack Bailey, of Augusta, was enthusiastic yesterday when talking about the exposition. He said: "The people of Atlanta have got there. The thing is ten times bigger than I expected. I cannot understand how the feat was accomplished. It again brings Atlanta forward as the favorite city of the south."

The delicate embroideries and other fancy work shown at the Singer sewing machine stand was done on the same machine that may be seen run by power at exhibit of Messrs. Selig Bros. & Co., speeded to 2,500 stitches a minute and turning out jeans pants at the rate of thirty pairs per day to each machine. Here is range of work for you!

Messrs. Bowen & Hunike, of Cincinnati, have placed a varied exhibit of stained glass on second floor of main building, which yesterday attracted the attention of every visitor. Library, hall and church windows of novel designs can be found there, and, as the people in this section are now paying considerable attention to interior decoration, this display is a welcome one at the exposition.

Don't fail to go to the big tent at Exposition and see the extensive exhibit of the Fruitland Nurseries of Augusta, Ga.

AMERICAN HUMANE ASSOCIATION.

The Georgia Society Extends an Invitation for Next Year's Convention.

The eleventh annual meeting of the American Humane association will be held at Power's hotel, Rochester, N. Y., on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next, October 19th, 20th and 21st.

The sessions will be exceedingly interesting. Among the papers read and discussed will be the following: Humane Work in the East, M. V. B. Davis, Philadelphia; Humane Work in the North, A. J. Condit, Minneapolis; Humane Work in the South, J. M. Humphries, Athens, Ga.; in Canada, W. C. Baker, Ottowa: How Can Humane Societies Benefit Our Street Waifs, Professor David Swing, Chicago; Humane Literature in Public Schools, Mrs. Lily Lord Tifft, Buffalo, N. Y.; Horse shoeing, Dr. V. T. Atkinson, Milwaukee, Wis.; Cruelties to Infants from Neglect, Rev. J. H. Dennis, Rochester, N. Y.: How can Farmers and Stock Men Best be Instructed in Humane Practices, Abner L. Frayer, Cincinnati; Need of Legislation to Prevent Cruelty, Mrs. Henrietta L. T. Wolcott, Boston; The Inhabitants of Our Waters, Thomas E. Hill, Chicago; Educate the Children to be Humane, Dr. J. B. Peasell, Cincinnati; Hydrophobia, Dr. Rose B. Jackson, Kokomo, Mich.; Sanitary Condition of Food Flesh, Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Battle Creek, Mich.; Children's Humane Organizations, Professor Leonard H. Eaton, Pittsburg, Penn.; Vivisection, Caroline Earle White, Philadelphia; Work of Societies for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Frank B. Fay, Boston; Hurdle-Racing, John G. Shortall, Chicago; Truant Fathers, How Shall They be Compelled to Provide for Their Families, Erastus Barnham, Cincinnati; Our Birds of Plumage and Song, Miss Elizabeth Farrar, Rochester, N. Y.; How to Organize Humane Societies, Oscar B. Todhunter, Cincinnati; Transportation and Slaughtering of Suckling Calves, J. H. Holmes, St. Louis; Duties of Humane Police, Charles R. Frazer, Canton, Ohio; Methods of Handling Poultry Now and Thirty Years Ago, E. D. Whitehead, Milwaukee, Wis.

Georgia is entitled to nine delegates in that body.

The Georgia Humane Society will extend to the American Humane association an invitation to hold its session next year in Atlanta during the Piedmont exposition. It is hoped that this invitation will be seconded by the city authorities, the chamber of commerce and the Piedmont exposition.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

The courts are doing little or nothing this week.

The grand jury will not meet again until next Thursday week.

Mr. J. W. Hicks, passenger agent of the Texas lines, spent the day in the city and at the exposition.

Mr. Love, agent of the Western and Atlantic railroad headquarters at Thomasville, is in the city.

C. W. Partee, ticket agent of the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas road at Vicksburg, is at the Kimball house.

J. W. Wallace, of Henderson county, Tex., was sent to the Ivy Street hospital yesterday by City Warden Lee. Wallace has a large cancer on his face.

The custom house is being handsomely decorated in honor of the approaching visit of President Cleveland. It will present the handsomest appearance of any building in the city.

The Atlanta Musical association will give another concert next Thursday night for the benefit of the Confederate Veterans' association. The Second Artillery band will assist.

C. B. Walker left the city last evening on a tour in the interest of the Western and Atlantic railroad company. Mr. Walker is considered one of the best passenger agents in the city.

The regular hackmen are suffering a loss of money by the cut rates of the temporary vehicles that are taking passengers to the park for 25 cents. The cheap hacks are getting as much as they can do, and a good deal of grumbling exists among the regular drivers.

An unknown young man riding a horse was thrown and believed to be seriously hurt early last evening on Peachtree street, near the exposition grounds. He was galloping along rapidly and rode into a carriage, the shock precipitating him to the ground. The saddle was torn from the horse by reason of its contact with the carriage. Bystanders assisted the young man to remount, and he rode away slowly, appearing to be suffering much pain. He retraced his way to the city. An effort was made to ascertain his name, but for some reason he would not gratify the request.

The interior of the Kimball house is being decorated from top to bottom. The railing around the arcade on each floor has been hung with bunting, festooned at regular distances with large rosettes and emblems. Pictures of the president and his wife are displayed here and there, and the effect upon the eye caused by the decorations as a whole is most pleasing. A large number of people visited the famous hostelry last night to see the decorations and all agreed that in beauty and taste they exceeded anything of the kind yet seen in Atlanta. The presidential party will be guests of the Kimball during their stay in the city.

The following official document from Colonel John B. Goodwin, chief marshal of the torchlight parade in honor of President Cleveland, explains itself:

PROGRAMME FOR THE TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION.

On consultation with the committee having the subject in charge, the following is announced as the order of the torchlight procession in honor of President and Mrs. Cleveland on the evening of the 19th instant:

Procession will form on South Broad street, at intersection of Mitchell street, at 7 o'clock p. m., with head of the column facing north. Torches will be supplied free of charge to organized companies, on presentation of the captain's commission, as soon as formed in line.

Torches will be on sale at the building, northeast corner of Broad and Mitchell streets, for the supply of companies which may be then and there organized and assigned to place in the line.

In moving, the head of the column will move up Broad to Alabama, down Alabama to Whitehall, down Whitehall to Peters, from which the procession will proceed down Peters to Pryor, up Pryor to Alabama, down Alabama to Loyd, up Loyd to Wall, up Wall to Pryor, up Pryor to Peachtree, up Peachtree to Forsyth, down Forsyth to Walton, down Walton to Spring, on Spring to Marietta, up Marietta passing on the right of the platform in front of the artesian well, from which the president and Mrs. Cleveland and party will review the procession; thence down Decatur to Pryor, again on Pryor to Peachtree, and from thence by same line as before to Marietta, and on Marietta to Peachtree, in front of the reviewing platform, where the torch bearers will form in mass in space reserved for them, where they will be addressed by His Excellency, President Cleveland. At the close of the exercises at the reviewing platform, the bearers will open space, through which the president and party will pass to Union passenger depot, after which the bearers will extinguish torches.

Further announcement, as to details of forming procession and movements, will be made hereafter.

JOHN B. GOODWIN,
Chief Marshal.

OTHER PREPARATIONS.

The framework for the reviewing stand is going up in front of the artesian well. It will be an elaborate affair and will add greatly to the beauty of the decorations of the city.

The young men of the city are thoroughly alive to the necessity of making this an unqualified success. The president has, in the course of his trip through the west and northwest, been splendidly entertained, and the young men of Atlanta must not lay all these efforts in the shade. This should be the most striking demonstration the south has ever seen.

Do not miss the Exposition today. Last chance to see it intelligently. Immense crowds next week. Take your children today.

THE CLUB RECEPTION.

The Rules Regulating the Admission of Visitors to the President's Reception.

Secretary Stockdell, of the Capital City club, is busily engaged in issuing tickets to members, and their invited guests, for the reception to the president and Mrs. Cleveland on the evening of the 18th instant.

With every invitation there is an admission card issued. On the card is the following announcement: "Present this card at the Ellis street entrance of the club house. On this occasion (excepting the presidential party) neither ladies, visiting gentlemen, nor club members will be admitted without this admittance card." Under no circumstances will any one be admitted to the grounds or club house without a card of admission. Parties in carriages will be furnished with "carriage checks," and a duplicate given to the driver in each instance, so as to avoid confusion in leaving the club house. To obtain these checks it is absolutely necessary for all carriages to turn into Ellis street from Peachtree, enter the first gate, and after occupants have alighted, a position will be assigned each carriage in line by numbers. If these directions are followed, much confusion will be avoided, and guests will have no trouble in having their carriages called at any hour. The governing committee wishes it to be generally understood that the admission cards accompanying each invitation are intended for use, and no guest or member will gain an entrance into the grounds or house without presenting the same.

All club members, with the ladies accompanying them, are earnestly requested to be at the club house not later than nine o'clock on the evening of the 18th, as the presidential party will arrive very soon after that hour. The arrangements for the reception have all been completed, and the occasion will be one of great interest; and will exceed, in beauty and completeness, any reception ever held in the south.

Take one of Carter's Little Liver Pills after eating it will relieve dyspepsia, aid digestion, give tone and vigor to the system. They make one feel as though life was worth living.

The whole science of ballooning will be exhausted at Exposition grounds today. A dozen ascensions. No extra charge. Do not fail to go.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

A Well Known Atlantian Weds a Rockdale Belle—They Reach the City.

Mr. W. F. Reeves, well-known in Atlanta, reached the city yesterday at noon on the Georgia railroad, with his bride. Mr. Reeves was married yesterday morning, in Rockdale, to Miss Fannie J. Warren, one of the most beautiful and accomplished young ladies of that county. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's father, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives, the Rev. Mr. Buchanan officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves were met at the union depot by friends, who accompanied them to Mr. J. L. Grantham's residence, No. 90 Thompson street. Today they will have quite a number of friends at dinner.

There was a happy wedding at the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The Rev. I. R. Branham, of Forsyth, performed the marriage ceremony. The contracting parties were Mr. D. R. Adams, of Eatonton, and Miss Leily Powell, of Tennessee. Music was furnished by Wurm's band. Yesterday afternoon the couple left the city for Eatonton.

The Poor Little Sufferer Will be Immediately relieved by using MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for children teething 25 cents a bottle.

Dental College.

Wanted, one thousand persons to call during the next ten days, at the Dental College parlors, corner of Forsyth and Walton streets, (rooms formerly occupied by the Young Men's Christian association), and make appointments for having artificial teeth made, or any operations needed on the natural teeth. Teeth extracted free.

All the different styles of making artificial teeth, and the various operations needed on the natural teeth, will be done at less than actual cost of material. Competent demonstrators can be found at the college every day, except Sunday, from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m., with whom appointments can be made.

To all those who are wishing for good, cheap dentistry, now is your time. No chance to say, Dr. so and so will do the work cheaper. Come right along. "Cheap John" operators all leaving the city.

MR. MAGNUS DISCHARGED.

Judge Anderson Hears the Evidence and Says the Officer Was Wrong.

Mr. Percy Magnus, the druggist, was arraigned in police court yesterday morning and asked to enter a plea to the charge of disorderly conduct.

A plea of not guilty was submitted.

Patrolman McCullough, who made the case, was the only witness for the city. He stated that Mr. Magnus had been obstructing the sidewalk in front of the main entrance to the union depot and that he had asked him to step aside so that the sidewalk would be clear. Mr. Magnus became angry and told him to go to hell. The language was sufficiently loud to prove offense and he arrested the gentleman.

Mr. Magnus introduced two gentlemen who were standing beside him when the officer requested him to move on. They both swore that Mr. Magnus did not tell the officer to go to hell, but said:

"Very well, I'll do it."

Several other witnesses stated that the noise about the union depot at the time the arrest was made was sufficient to have caused a misunderstanding by the officer. Other witnesses testified as to the rough handling Mr. Magnus received, while that gentleman said that he had done nothing to be arrested for, and thought at first the officer was only joking, but when he saw the officer was in earnest, he asked to be allowed to walk quietly to police headquarters. This the policeman would not let him do, but dragged him along in a very rough manner.

Judge Anderson recounted the testimony, and discharged Mr. Magnus, at the same time saying that he thought the officer had been honestly mistaken. So far Mr. Magnus has not made a case against the officer before the board of police commissioners and does not know what course he will pursue.

A CHARTER APPLIED FOR.

Northern Capitalist Join Together to Open Georgia Marble Mines.

An application for a charter was filed in the clerk's office of the Fulton superior court yesterday morning by R. J. Jordan, the attorney, for the Notla Consolidated Marble, Iron and Talc company.

The capital stock of the company is one million dollars.

The incorporators and stockholders are strong gentlemen financially of Cincinnati, Indianapolis, New York and Atlanta and the company will at once begin to develop some of the most valuable marble, iron and talc beds in north Georgia where heavy investments have been made. Among the first incorporators are Mr. Isaac Kinsey, of Indianapolis, and Mr. A. G. Kinsey, of California, and Mr. J. R. Tolleson, of Atlanta. The Messrs. Kinsey have been interested in building the Marietta and North Georgia railroad, and while engaged in that work ascertained the vast beds of iron, marble and other minerals in which they are now interested. Mr. A. G. Kinsey, who is now in the city, says:

"The marble beds up in north Georgia are the best in the world, and we can find easy sale for all we can get out. Georgia marble always brings good prices, too."

GADSDEN'S EXHIBIT.

A Showing That Any Community in America

WOULD BE PROUD TO CLAIM.

It is Attracting Considerable Attention From Capitalists and Others.

The splendid specimens of the ores which are on exhibition from Gadsden are attracting deserved attention. In the entire mineral exhibit no richer specimens can be found. We learn from Major James M. Cooper, who has charge of the Gadsden exhibit, that this deposit, whilst being the largest in the state, is really one of the mineral wonders of the American continent. The Iron mountain in Missouri, alone, can be considered its compeer. This vast body of fossiliferious ore runs from a point a few miles east of Tuscaloosa, Ala., to the northeastern limits of the state, and it is said to be one hundred miles in length and from half a mile to a mile wide. What constitutes a most interesting and important feature in relation to this remarkable deposit is its proximity to other materials necessary for its reduction. Coal, iron and limestone overlap each other or lie parallel, and separated by a few miles throughout its entire length. Birmingham rests upon the southern limits of this great deposit, Gadsden about central, the richest and purest being at her very doors, and a notable fact is that a large portion of the ores at Gadsden contain a sufficient percentage of lime to make them self-fluxing

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, October 14.—The stock market today was very active but weak in forenoon, and though material rally occurred in afternoon it was not enough to wipe out losses made. Bears made free use of an interview with Chauncey Depew published in morning papers and succeeded in frightening holders to such an extent that prices were forced down from 1 to 2½ per cent. There is grave doubt in Wall street that Depew spoke precisely as he is reported to have done and denials put out later in day go far to make this a certainty. The Vanderbilts and Western Union were heaviest sufferers in decline, special drive being made against them in early dealings. Decline met with no serious check until near 2 p. m., when from ¼ to 1 per cent was regained, but selling was renewed in last hour and close was active and weak at nearly lowest prices of day. Almost everything is lower, only exceptions being Manitoba with gain of 1¼ and Oregon Navigation 1. But Omaha lost 3, New York Central 2⅝, Lake Shore 2¼, North West 2½, Missouri Pacific and Western Union 2 each, North Pacific preferred 1¾, Erie, Louisville and Nashville, Norfolk preferred and Lackawanna 1½ each, St. Paul and Colorado coal 1½ each, Union Pacific, Reading, Richmond and Westpoint and Jersey Central 1¼ each, New England and consolidated gas 1 and others fractional amounts. NEW YORK, October 14—C. L. Green & Co., in their report on cotton futures today, say: Animation and excitement continue upon cotton options the dominating feature, being the latent absorbing power that appears to take up the offering without difficulty. After opening 10@20 points off in some cases prices commenced on an advancing scale, and from the lowest made a gain of 10@20 points, especially noticeable on the near months. There was nothing particularly new apparent in the way of stimulating influences, except, possibly, better cable accounts, but there was evidently general fright among the bears who not only covered freely but took the long side on their own conversion, and put the market up through sheer force of demand. Some g@4 points were shaded from the highest, but the close stood steady.

NEW YORK, October 14.—[Special.]—From Hubbard, Price & Co., through John S. Ernest: The great activity of yesterday afternoon was but a precursor of a more nervous market today, though at the opening the failure of Liverpool to take special note of the spasmodic advance here caused some disappointment. Local operators, believing the the advance has been due to the covering of large short interests, were anxious to sell this morning, and heavy orders were in broker's hands at prices above the opening. From outside sources, however, orders were received which speedily absorbed all the cotton offered, and at one time during the afternoon created a feeling that was akin to a panic, no cotton being for sale except at advancing figures, and these buyers were compelled to pay. October was noticeably in demand, and the fear of a possible corner in that month, exaggerated by the small stock here, and the limited amount of certificated cotton, brought about a demand which could not be supplied. The sellers, however, regained courage when prices were at their highest and supplied the market freely, the larger houses proving to be the source from which the supply came. The advance was checked, partially lost, and prices closed only steady. It is not thought that tomorrow will show any improvement. The short interest has largely covered and unless Liverpool takes fright and gives much higher quotations our market will decline. At the same time we advise our friends to use great caution in selling the inside positions.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Produce.

Special to The Constitution.

CHICAGO, October 14—The grain and provision markets today were very discouraging to speculators. The evil influence being a depression in making operators timid and resulting in a remarkable dullness. The wheat market opened at about yesterday's closing prices. There was a continuous sagging all morning, and during the last half hour when certain traders, disappointed in their expectations of a profit on earlier purchases and apparently worried by the weakness in the stock market, attempted to get out, prices fell away until the decline from the opening prices of ⅝ to ⅞c was scored. The market at 1 p. m. was weak at the lowest point of the session. On the afternoon board there was ½c reaction.

Corn showed some short lived activity and strength at the opening on account of the light receipts, 376 cars, being sixty cars less than were expected and a liberal movement outward, the inspection sheet showing 552,000 bushels; corn inspected, out of store and shipments, of 224,000 bushels being reported from Chicago. There was also a fair demand for cash property early. The opening prices were the highest of the session, however, except for May, which advanced ⅜c, then the demand for cash corn fell off on account of a scarcity for vessel room here and a refusal of the Grand Trunk road to accept any more corn for lake and rail shipment on account of a lack of cars, and the market sagged. Loss on the day was ¼ to ⅝c. There was not a large volume of business, a greater part of the trading being done by Hutchinson's brokers. The close was at a fractional advance from the lowest point.

Oats were dull all around, and speculative orders were light and there was less than the usual shipping demand for cash oats. A weak feeling prevailed for everything but October, which ruled steady while other futures declined and at 1 p. m. were about ¼c lower. At the afternoon session ⅛c of this was recovered.

Provisions were weaker and prices a shade lewor, receipts of hogs were larger and light hogs higher. Trading in products was moderate and chiefly local and fluctuations narrow. January pork received fair attention. Cash lard was firm with a good shipping demand. October ribs declined 5 to 7½c.

The following was the range in the leading futures in Chicago today:

THE CITY OF

SHEFFIELD

IS

Preparing its Exhibit at the

PIEDMONT EXPOSITION.

As Rapidly as Possible. While it is Getting Ready it is Well Enough to

REMEMBER:

1st. That of all the iron cities, Sheffield is the only one that is at the head of navigation of the Tennessee river, half mile wide, at the Sheffield bluff 150 feet high.

2d. That five iron furnaces more than in any other city are now actually being built in Sheffield. This is more than Birmingham had up to the present year.

3d. A railroad direct to Birmingham, the chief city of North Alabama, and one to Nashville, the chief city of Tennessee, are now actually being built. The Tennessee river connects Sheffield by water way with the Mississippi valley and the Northwest.

4th. Its railroad and river connections will make it inevitably the great shipping and distributing point between the iron and coal fields and the grain and food centers and manufacturing cities of the Northwest.

5th. It is in the center of the richest and best coal and iron fields in America.

6th. It is backed by the strongest syndicates now operating in the south.

Study these reasons over. Come to the Sheffield exhibit and talk about it, and you will be convinced that

THE DAY WITH THE POLICE FORCE.

A Man Has Two Names—A Negro Hits an Officer—McHenry was Right and Hurston Wrong.

Frank Whitley, once a member of the police force, came very near biting the dust last night.

Since Yellowstone Kit has been in the city, Whitley has been doing special police work on the lot used by the medicine man. Last night Kit drew an unusually large crowd, the greater part of which was negroes. During the evening, a negro named White became quite boisterous, and was requested by the patrolman to be quiet. Another negro, a large, muscular fellow, known as Washington Barnes, heard the officer's remark, and turning to him, asked:

"What in the —— have you got to do with it?"

"I've got enough to do with it," answered the officer, "to take you to the city prison if you make any noise."

Barnes instantly became quite abusive and attracted the attention of many present. The officer requested him to be quiet, but the request only made the negro worse. Seeing that he would be compelled to arrest the darky, Whitley walked up to him, and laying a hand on his shoulder, said:

"I see I'll have to take you in. So just come on."

"Will you," said the negro, jerking away.

As he jerked away from the officer Barnes rammed his hand into his hip pocket. In a second it came out. Firmly clasped in the hand was a large pistol, and with an oath he started towards Whitley. As he advanced he cocked the pistol. The officer saw him coming and raised his stick to deal a blow. The negro dodged the blow, and placing the muzzle of the pistol against Whitley's breast pulled the trigger.

But there was no report.

Bailiff Williams, who was also in the crowd, heard the racket, and rushing up reached the men just as the negro was in the act of pulling the trigger. He saw the pistol against the officer's breast, and grabbed at it, hoping to disarm him. His hand surrounded the pistol near the hammer, and just at the instant the negro's finger pressed the trigger. The hammer came down upon Bailiff Williams's hand instead of upon the cap, and the officer's life was saved. The bailiff's flesh was pinched tight, and in the tustle for possession of the pistol, was torn. The officers finally secured the pistol and then conducted Barnes to the prison, where he was locked up. This morning Judge Anderson will investigate the charge preferred—disorderly conduct and resisting an officer—and then bind Barnes over for carrying concealed weapons.

He Has Two Names.

A young man who claims two names was given a cell in the city prison yesterday by Patrolman Ryan. During the morning the prisoner was at the union depot, and was behaving offensively. Patrolman Ryan arrested him, and while en route to the stationhouse, the young man attempted to tear up some papers which were found to be express receipts—one for a valise consigned to Macon, the other for money consigned to New Orleans. When asked for his name the young man said it was J. H. Johnson. Subsequently he declared that it was Lee Howard. He was booked for drunk and disorderly conduct.

The White Man Was Wrong.

The case made against George McHenry Sunday night upon complaint of a white man named Hurston, was tried during the session of police court yesterday morning. Hurston's nose still retained the mark McHenry made Sunday night when he threw the stone. The evidence, however, did not pan out as Hurston desired. It showed that Hurston attempted to force his way into McHenry's house through the rear door, and that when McHenry objected Hurston struck a pistol in the negro's face. Subsequently McHenry threw the stone into the white man's face. Judge Anderson discharged McHenry and made Hurston give a two hundred dollar bond for assault.

He Found Three Quarts.

Out on the exposition grounds yesterday, where were only three drunks discovered, and two of these were found after dark. During the day Patrolman Reeves, who has been assigned to special work again, found a negro with four quart bottles of corn liquor in a sack. The negro was slightly intoxicated and the four quarts of liquor suggested a blind tiger. After the darkey was arrested he claimed that he had brought the liquor to the grounds for a man who had sent him for it. He was subsequently released.

They Want Heavy Fines.

Prominent prohibitionists are extremely anxious to have the prohibition law enforced at the fair grounds, and soon after the adjournment of police court yesterday morning a delegation called upon Judge Anderson and requested him to impose heavy fines upon men who were seen drunk at the fair, as their drunkenness was a direct insult to the ladies into whose presence the man forced himself.

He Struck the Officer.

Two negro men were walking along Pryor street, last night about nine o'clock. Immediately in front of them were some ladies. The negroes were using very offensive language. Bailiff Williams happened to pass and taking in the situation, attempted to arrest the negroes. They started to run and the bailiff pursued. One of the negroes threw a stone at the officer. The stone struck him in the side of the head, making an ugly wound. One of the negroes made good his escape, but the other was arrested. At police headquarters he gave his name as Jim Brown.

"It is like being rescued from a burning building!" says a man who was cured of a severe case of salt rheum by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give this peculiar medicine a trial. Sold by all druggists.

A feat never before witnessed. Mr. Dare, the gymnast, will ascend the balloon this afternoon, holding by his toes to trapeze suspended from the basket. He will go five thousand feet this way.

GOVERNOR GORDON'S POSITION

Reward Senator Colquitt—The Governor's Tariff Views.

The following correspondence, which requires no explanation, was made public yesterday.

Colonel Olive to Governor Gordon.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, ATLANTA, Ga., October 12, 1887.—His Excellency, Governor J. B. Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: I have heard it rumored for some time that there had been an estrangement between you and Senator Colquitt, and that you were personally inimical to him and dissatisfied with him in his views touching a reform of our tariff law, and that you would share in the opposition to his re-election to the senate.

I am the friend of both of you, and have known you to be the life-long friends of each other, and do not believe the report. But, as a mutual friend, I would be glad to have an authoritative statement of the facts from you, if your time and inclination will permit.

With greatest respect, I am truly your friend,
J. T. OLIVE.

Governor Gordon to Colonel Olive.

STATE OF GEORGIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, Atlanta, Ga., October 14, '87.—Hon. J. T. Olive, House of Representatives.—My Dear Sir: I had heard with surprise and regret the rumor to which you refer, and am glad to have the opportunity of making the authoritative statement which you request. The report that there is an "estrangement" between Senator Colquitt and myself is without any foundation whatever, and I am sure that no one who knows the character of my friendship would give circulation or credence to such a rumor.

Senator Colquitt is, and has long been, my close personal friend and our relations were never more cordial than now. Our long personal acquaintance would forbid any estrangement, even if we differed as to public politics. As to the wisdom and necessity of reform in our tariff laws, however, we do not differ, but are in perfect accord. My opinions on this subject were formed many years ago, and have long since ripened into profound conclusions.

Very truly and faithfully yours,
J. B. GORDON.

But there was no report.

Bailiff Williams, who was also in the crowd, heard the racket, and rushing up reached the men just as the negro was in the act of pulling the trigger. He saw the pistol against the officer's breast, and grabbed at it, hoping to disarm him. His hand surrounded the pistol near the hammer, and just at the instant the negro's finger pressed the trigger. The hammer came down upon Bailiff Williams's hand instead of upon the cap, and the officer's life was saved. The bailiff's flesh was pinched tight, and in the tustle for possession of the pistol, was torn. The officers finally secured the pistol and then conducted Barnes to the prison, where he was locked up. This morning Judge Anderson will investigate the charge preferred—disorderly conduct and resisting an officer—and then bind Barnes over for carrying concealed weapons.

He Has Two Names.

A young man who claims two names was given a cell in the city prison yesterday by Patrolman Ryan. During the morning the prisoner was at the union depot, and was behaving offensively. Patrolman Ryan arrested him, and while en route to the stationhouse, the young man attempted to tear up some papers which were found to be express receipts —one for a valise consigned to Macon, the other for money consigned to New Orleans. When asked for his name the young man said it was J. H. Johnson. Subsequently he declared that it was Lee Howard. He was booked for drunk and disorderly conduct.

The White Man Was Wrong.

The case made against George McHenry Sunday night upon complaint of a white man named Hurston, was tried during the session of police court yesterday morning. Hurston's nose still retained the mark McHenry made Sunday night when he threw the stone. The evidence, however, did not pan out as Hurston desired. It showed that Hurston attempted to force his way into McHenry's house through the rear door, and that when McHenry objected Hurston stuck a pistol in the negro's face. Subsequently McHenry threw the stone into the white man's face. Judge Anderson discharged McHenry and made Hurston give a two hundred dollar bond for assault.

He Found Three Quarts.

Out on the exposition grounds yesterday, there were only three drunks discovered, and two of these were found after dark. During the day Patrolman Reeves, who has been assigned to special work again, found a negro with four quart bottles of corn liquor in a sack. The negro was slightly intoxicated and the four quarts of liquor suggested a blind tiger. After the darkey was arrested he claimed that he had brought the liquor to the grounds for a man who had sent him for it. He was subsequently released.

They Want Heavy Fines.

Prominent prohibitionists are extremely anxious to have the prohibition law enforced at the fair grounds, and soon after the adjournment of police court yesterday morning a delegation called upon Judge Anderson and requested him to impose heavy fines upon men who were seen drunk at the fair, as their drunkenness was a direct insult to the ladies into whose presence the man forced himself.

He Struck the Officer.

Two negro men were walking along Pryor street, last night about nine o'clock. Immediately in front of them were some ladies. The negroes were using very offensive language. Bailiff Williams happened to pass and taking in the situation, attempted to arrest the negroes. They started to run and the bailiff pursued. One of the negroes threw a stone at the officer. The stone struck him in the side of the head, making an ugly wound. One of the negroes made good his escape, but the other was arrested. At police headquarters he gave his name as Jim Brown.

"It is like being rescued from a burning building!" says a man who was cured of a severe case of salt rheum by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Give this peculiar medicine a trial. Sold by all druggists.

A feat never before witnessed. Mr. Dare, the gymnast, will ascend the balloon this afternoon, holding by his toes to trapeze suspended from the basket. He will go five thousand feet this way.

GOVERNOR GORDON'S POSITION

Toward Senator Colquitt—The Governor's Tariff Views.

The following correspondence, which requires no explanation, was made public yesterday.

Colonel Olive to Governor Gordon.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, ATLANTA, Ga., October 12, 1887.—His Excellency, Governor J. B. Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: I have heard it rumored for some time that there had been an estrangement between you and Senator Colquitt, and that you were personally inimical to him and disagreed with him in his views touching a reform of our tariff law, and that you would share in the opposition to his re-election to the senate.

I am the friend of both of you, and have known you to be the life-long friends of each other, and do not believe the report. But, as a mutual friend, I would be glad to have an authoritative statement of the facts from you, if your time and inclination will permit.

With greatest respect, I am truly your friend,
J. T. OLIVE.

Governor Gordon to Colonel Olive.

STATE OF GEORGIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, Atlanta, Ga., October 14, '87.—Hon. J. T. Olive, House of Representatives—My Dear Sir: I had heard with surprise and regret the rumor to which you refer, and am glad to have the opportunity of making the authoritative statement which you request.

The report that there is an "estrangement" between Senator Colquitt and myself is without any foundation whatever, and I am sure that no one who knows the character of my friendship would give circulation or credence to such a rumor.

Senator Colquitt is, and has long been, my close personal friend and our relations were never more thoroughly cordial than now. Our long personal intimacy would forbid any estrangement, even if we differed as to public politics. As to the wisdom and necessity of reform in our tariff laws, however, we do not differ, but are in perfect accord. My opinions on this subject were formed many years ago, and have long since ripened into profound conclusions.

Sincerely and faithfully yours,
J. B. GORDON.

COURT AND CAPITOL.

What Was Done in the Departments Yesterday.

A DOCTOR'S SENTENCE COMMUTED.

Matters of Moment and Note Collected Yesterday About the State, Custom and Court Houses.

Governor Gordon was in his office all the morning yesterday and transacted a large amount of public business. In the afternoon he remained at the mansion in order to give undivided attention to some important matters. Below will be found the record of the day's proceedings in all the departments.

The Governor and His Cabinet.

GOVERNOR GORDON on yesterday commuted the fine and imprisonment of Dr. John G. Elder, of Jasper county, from $150 and twelve months imprisonment to a fine of $75. Dr. Elder was convicted at the September term, 1887, of Jasper superior court of the offense of furnishing liquor to a minor, and the sentence above was imposed. A very large petition was presented to the governor, asking for the pardon of Dr. Elder or a commutation of his sentence. It was shown that he was in the habit of prescribing whisky as a stimulant and a tonic to the father of the minor, that he could not recall the circumstances of the offense for which he was convicted, that he had always borne a good character, and the officers of the court, the grand and traverse jurors, together with members of the bar and ministers of the gospel united with a large number of citizens in asking for the pardon. The papers were made out yesterday and forwarded to the sheriff of Jasper county.

THE FOLLOWING OFFICERS were commissioned yesterday by the governor: G. W. Quinney, commissioned as sheriff of Jefferson county, in place of G. W. Kelley, resigned; F. D. Wainwright, commissioned as justice of the peace for the 1193d district, G. M., Charlton county; Silas Meeks, N. P. and ex-officio J. P. for the 55th district, G. M., Johnson county; Franklin Brantley, N. P. and ex-officio J. P. for the 1202nd district, G. M., Johnson county; and J. M. Bridges, N. P. and ex-officio J. P. for the 1293d district, G. M., of Fayette county. No other commissions were issued during the day.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, on yesterday, by resolution, asked that the executive furnish the general assembly with the quarterly reports of the agricultural department made to the executive department. The governor ordered the quarterly reports of the agricultural department for the two years ending October 1st, 1887, to be transmitted the house in obedience to the resolution.

A VERY PATHETIC REQUEST was made of the governor yesterday by a convict named McAllister, confined at the Chattahoochee brickyard. McAllister is working out a sentence for the offense of shooting at a man named O'Shields some time ago. Several petitions for his pardon have been made, but each time a protest was entered by O'Shields against the pardon. Within the past few weeks O'Shields has withdrawn his objections, and it is very likely that McAllister will be pardoned, as there are a number of mitigating circumstances connected with the case. The request made yesterday was by telegraph. McAllister received a message that his sister was dying in Atlanta with a summons to come to her bedside. He telegraphed the governor the facts and asked that he be allowed to wear citizen's clothes. The governor was not in when the telegram arrived and as there was but very little time for the answer to reach McAllister in time to take the train to reach his sister, nothing could be done. The law allows the governor no discretion or authority in the matter of relieving convicts from wearing stripes. The law is obligatory, and while frequently cases arise where circumstances would seem to warrant temporary release in the matter, the executive has no power to do so.

THE FOLLOWING BILLS were signed yesterday by the governor: An act to amend an act to create and organize a new judicial circuit of the state known as the Stone Mountain judicial circuit. In addition to other bills upon the governor's desk awaiting his approval, the following acts passed by the general assembly recently have been read and examined by the clerks in the executive department, and await executive approval.

An act to authorize the commitment of juvenile offenders and others to the house of refuge for the reformation of juvenile criminals in Fulton county; an act to amend the charter of the town of Waycross; a resolution for the relief of the National Life and Maturity association, of Washington, D. C.; a resolution for the relief of I. F. Farmer, tax collector of Jefferson county; an act to incorporate the town of Tarver, in Echols county; an act to strike out, alter and amend so much of section 12, of the charter of Harmony Grove, as prescribes mode and manner of levying taxes; an act to amend an act to provide for the better organization and discipline of the volunteer troops of this state; an act to appropriate proceeds of time of misdemeaner convicts in counties of southern judicial circuit to the payment of the costs accruing to the officers of court in which conviction was had; an act to more clearly define the offense of arson; an act providing for the establishment of the state line between Georgia and Tennessee; an act to incorporate the Marietta bank; an act to require the full opinion of the supreme court to be transmitted to the lower court in certain cases; an act to amend charter of Adairsville.

THE LEGISLATIVE FINANCE committee that has for several weeks been engaged in the task of examining and overlooking the books in the treasury department, completed its labors yesterday. The report of the committee will be made public today. Everything was found in a satisfactory condition in the department, and the officials are given their full meed of praise for faithfulness and honesty. The report will also contain the statement of the state's exact financial condition, which will be of great interest to the people.

IT IS NOW VERY unlikely that the state house will be decorated on the occasion of President Cleveland's visit. The house of representatives has insisted upon the statement that it has no authority or power to appropriate money for such a purpose. Its refusal is not based upon any unwillingness to decorate in honor of President Cleveland; the enthusiastic cheers that greeted the name of the president in the allusions to him in Mr. Randall's address in the house show unmistakably how the house feels towards the chief executive. There is a sincere belief that the appropriation would be constitutional, and an effort was made to collect the necessary amount of money by voluntary subscriptions. Quite a nice sum has been realized so far, but not enough yet to justify an attempt towards decoration. The adjutant general, who has charge of the public buildings, believes that it will be better not to decorate at all than to attempt a decoration that will be certain to fall far below what is expected of a great state in such a matter.

COMPTROLLER GENERAL WRIGHT on yesterday received $275 dividend from some telegraph stock owned by the state of Georgia in the Southern and Atlantic Telegraph company. The company is a defunct one, but the payment of the dividend is in some way or other guaranteed by the Western Union Telegraph company. It has been so long since the stock was secured that no one seems to have any positive information just how the state secured possession of it. The dividend comes with regularity and goes to the general fund in the state treasury.

COLONEL Y. T. REDDING, of the agricultural department, who was married a few days ago at Decatur, Ala., has returned to Atlanta and occupied his desk in the agricultural office yesterday. He was congratulated by a number of his friends upon his marriage. Adjutant General Kell now leaves the city at 2:30 p. m., and all parties desiring to see him must call before that hour. The adjutant reaches his office at an early hour in the morning, and is obliged to take the early afternoon train in order to reach his home at Sunny Side at a reasonable hour.

SYPHILIS positively cured and entirely eradicated from the system. Gonorrhea, GLEET, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia, (or Rupture), Piles and other private diseases quickly cured.
It is self-evident that a physician who pays special attention to a certain class of diseases, and treating thousands annually, acquires great skill. Physicians knowing this fact often recommend persons to my care. Those ill or inconvenienced to visit the city for treatment, medicines can be sent privately and safely by mail or express anywhere.
Cures Guaranteed in all Cases undertaken.
Consultation personally or by letter free and invited. Charges reasonable and correspondence strictly confidential.

Real Estate.

I am having a good demand for property now, and look for a lively fall trade. I have a choice list of property, a good conveyance and am always ready to go with customers and take every pains to suit them in homes or investments.

It is unnecessary to publish a long list of property in my hand. I mention only a few;

I have an elegant large residence on Houston street, near Peachtree street.

A splendid corner on Whitehall, near in, at $6,000.

Three cottages near Air-Line shops, on Randolph street. A good renting property.

A nice five room house on Rawson street, near Crew street.

Two houses close in, on Church street.

A splendid residence on Luckie street.

A cozy cottage on Wheat street, near Young Men's Christian association building. At a sacrifice.

A nice vacant lot on Simpson street, near railroad.

A vacant lot corner Boulevard and Irwin street.

I have quite a large list of places on the Georgia Pacific railroad, in Edgewood, Kirkwood and Decatur.

I have a large list of property on and near Peachtree street.

I have any kind of property you want, and if you will come I will go out with you and show you around.

Rheumatism is primarily caused by acidity of the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and thus cures the disease.

The Hyam's Specialty Company.

Every feature of the performance at Concordia hall was applauded to the echo last night, by a good crowd. All the specialties are fine, and done with artistic effect. Every artist in this strong troupe is a star, and those who fail to see it will miss the best and spiciest show ever seen in Atlanta. That's all. Go to Concordia hall, No. 40 Marietta street, opposite the opera house, and see for yourself.

Children Starving to Death

On account of their inability to digest food, will find a most marvellous food and remedy in Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Very palatable and easily digested. Dr. S. W. COBBS, of Waco, Texas, says: "I have used your Emulsion in infantile wasting with good results. It not only restores wasted tissues, but gives strength and increases the appetite. I am glad to use such a reliable article."

"Bargains!" How flat that word sounds on some people's ears. But genuine bargains in first-class goods has a ring to it that attracts people to "The Place," 10 Marietta street, and makes them happy when they get there.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 3, 1887.

MR. A. K. HAWKES, Atlanta, Ga., Dear Sir:—I must acknowledge that great praise is due you for your skilful and scientific method of adjusting glasses in complicated cases, where sight of one eye is different from the other. I am 78 years old, and had repeatedly tried other opticians, till I began to despair of ever being fitted. But the benefit I now receive from the glasses you adjusted to my eyes, is simply wonderful considering my eye. That I should ever have normal vision again is more than I expected. The ease and comfort which these glasses give me, is beyond my powers of expression. I am, respectfully yours, REV. LEVI BROTHERTON.

JAPANESE HERB PADS.

YELLOWSTONE KIT'S
JAPANESE
HERB PAD

Thousands of miles have I traveled, and thousands of dollars have I spent, to find at last the secret of restoring old age to youth once more. Can I prove it? you ask; yes, right here now, and with the indorsement of governors of states, judges, leading public men and doctors of California, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Washington Territory, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina. Centuries ago this herb was known only to the priests and fitted ones, but was lost for three centuries, and today, after traveling all over England, France, Germany and the Holy Land, I found it at last in Japan, the secret costing me $10,000!

I will take any case of KIDNEY COMPLAINT and cure it in TWENTY DAYS, no matter how long standing.

For SEMINAL WEAKNESS, LOST MANHOOD, IMPOTENCE and NERVOUS DEBILITY, and in all cases of SEXUAL POWER, I will positively and permanently restore it in THREE WEEKS' TIME to men of fifty and sixty years of age, to the youth of twenty.

BLOOD DISEASES, SCROFULA, RHEUMATISM, DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, SPEEDILY CURED.

LADIES!

I will take any case of FEMALE WEAKNESS and in ten days give entire relief and a positive cure.

For DEBILITY AND WEAKNESS, from abuse or excess, male or female, it is a positive cure.

Such confidence have I in my SECRET HERB PAD, that for a few days I will sell them at ONE DOLLAR, though they are worth thousands to many. After that you can find them in the drug stores at the regular price.

I will give

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for any known medicine that will restore youth except this.

THE PATENT
WIRE GAUZE OVEN DOOR
IS THE LATEST IMPROVEMENT ON THE

It produces Practical Results in Baking and Roasting never before attained in any Cooking Apparatus, and will Revolutionize the Present Methods of Cooking

ITS THEORY

Is, that all Food Baked or Roasted, should be cooked in fresh air freely admitted to the oven. This is done by discarding the close oven door heretofore used, and substituting for it a door containing a sheet of Wire Gauze nearly as large as the door itself.

Through this Gauze Door the air freely circulates, facilitating the process of cooking, and producing food that is unequalled in flavor and nutrition, and actually cooked with less consumption of fuel than in an oven with a closed door.

It makes an enormous saving in the weight of meat.

It also produces larger Loaves of Bread, requires less attention from the cook, and promotes the health of the family by the SUPERIOR QUALITY OF THE FOOD COOKED IN IT.

OPINION OF AN EXPERT.

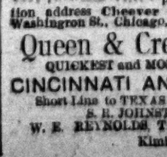

MRS. MARY H. WELCH, Teacher Domestic Economy, Iowa State University, says: "My deliberate judgment is that the oven of the Range, as compared with others, is not only more equally heated in every part—front as well as rear—but as a result of its superior regulation the food placed therein is better cooked, while retaining a sweeter flavor, and a larger proportion of its best juices. I find, also, that the consumption of fuel in this Range is much less than any other for same work."
